WHAT THE POLITICIANS ARE DOING.

The Ohio Senatorial Complication—Hon. Alexander H. Stephens on Congressional Affairs—General Schofield About to be Relieved—Other News.

WASHINGTON, November 19.—The Ohio senatorial complication will be apt to give the republicans a great deal of trouble before they are through with it. The case attracts much attention among lawyers here, and their views of its legal aspects are very diverse. In speaking of the matter to-day, Senator Thurman said that the democrats would not exert themselves to help the republicans out of the difficulty. He said that no matter who was chosen, or how or when it was done, before the 4th of March the case would have to go before the senate committee of privileges and elections, composed of a majority of democrats, and many of them would have remarks to offer on the subject before the applicant was admitted. Democrats are counting on controlling the organization, and the longer they can argue the Ohio case, and keep the new senator waiting in the cold corridors of the capitol, the better they will be satisfied. A democratic senator is credited with saying that the case was so peculiar under the statutes that there was a solid month of good talk in it.

Senator Thurman holds that the Ohio legislature cannot elect until the fourth of March. At best, under proper observance of the machinery of these elections as laid down by statute, it will take several days for the new senator to get around, and probably very many more days for him to pass the committee on privileges and elections and get in. Meantime, there will be a loss of one republican senator, which the democrats will try to bear with complacency and fortitude, especially as they can thus control the senate. According to this view, if President Hayes should call the senate together in extra session on March 4th, the Ohio republican member will not have been elected, and, of course, cannot take his seat. The revised statutes provide first for the election of senator by the legislature which meets next preceding the expiration of the term of a senator. This has been done by the Ohio legislature in the election of General Garfield. The only other provision on the subject provides for an election to fill a vacancy. There will be no vacancy until Senator Thurman's term expires, which will not be until the 4th of March, and the point is made that there can be no election until after that time. If it is agreed by republicans that a valid objection can be raised to the admission of a senator elected before the 4th of March, they can easily have their full strength in the senate simply by President Hayes calling the senate in extra session two or three weeks later than the 4th of March, by which time the Ohio legislature could, under the plain provisions of the revised statutes, fill the vacancy occurring on March 3.

General Garfield is expected to arrive here next Tuesday night, and will remain quietly at his home, on Thirteenth and I streets. It is generally believed that upon this visit he will see Secretary Sherman and the two will come to a frank understanding about the treasury portfolio. The belief here is that General Garfield will tender Mr Sherman the secretaryship and that Mr. Sherman will accept. Of this, however, of course nothing positive is known.

Hon Alex. H. Stephens expresses the opinion that there will be no extra session of the new congress. The persons who are anxious to get hold of the house offices are very clamorous for it, but it is possible that they may be able to possess their souls in patience until the regular session. Mr. Stephens think that all necessary legislation will be enacted this winter, and there will be no public need for an extra session. He says that the democratic minority will be numerous and powerful, and the new president will prefer to have his administration fairly under way before congress meets. Mr. Stephens says he shall vote to pay the supervisors and deputy marshals, as they have performed their duties under the law and are entitled to their pay. It is believed that some other democratic members take the same view of this as Mr. Stephens.

The population of Philadelphia, as figured up at the census bureau, is 846,980.

Whittaker, the colored cadet, who has been here on his indefinite furlough, received a draft to-day from West Point for his pay.

General Schofield, commandant at West Point, will, it is understood, be shortly relieved. It is because he has been there for about the average period.

Allen Jones and Salon K. Hortrader were to-day appointed storekeeper and gaugers for the fifth district of North Carolina, and James M. Murray for the second district of Georgia.

The state department was advised by a cable dispatch to-day that the new treaty on the subject of the Chinese immigration has been concluded by the United States commissioners with the government of China. The department declines at the present to furnish any particulars, but the treaty is said to be satisfactory.

The president to day signed the commission of Ezekiel B. Turner to be United States district judge for the western district of Texas.

FORT WAYNE, November 19.—At a meeting of the democratic editors of northern Indiana in this city to day, it was unanimously agreed that the following points should be pressed upon the attention of the American people:

1. A change in the constitution of the United States, providing for the election of the president and vice president by a popular vote.
2. The election of United States senators by the people of the several states instead of by the legislatures thereof.
3. A judicious revision of the present tariff in the interests of the producing and industrial classes.
4. A vigorous opposition to the introduction of cheap Mongolian labor.
5. Appropriate legislation by congress for the taxation of greenbacks.
6. Opposition to the controlling of elections by dependents of national administration, high and low, and against coercive measures on the part of corporations, interfering with the elective franchise of their employes.
7. Securing the holding of elections in all states on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.
8. We protest against any tinkering with the finances of the country, and express unqualified condemnation of the presumptious proposition of Secretary Sherman.
9. A demand upon the present congress to institute a thorough and searching investigation of the charges that the apparent majority for Garfield and Arthur in the state of New York was obtained by fraudulent and illegal means, to the end that justice may be done to all parties.

NEW YORK, November 19.—During the progress of the meeting of the board of apportionment this afternoon, Mayor Cooper and Comptroller Kelly had some sharp words. The latter moved the transfer of some unexpected balances from one department to another, which the former opposed One of the proposed transfers was to the finance department.

Mr. Kelly's ire became aroused and he charged the mayor with always entertaining bitter hatred toward the finance department and also with inconsistency.

Failures.

CHICAGO, November 18.—The grain and provision exchange, Nos. 122 and 124 Clark street, failed this morning, owing to the rapid appreciation in the value of grain, provisions and stocks. It has branches in several cities of the west. Liabilities, $20,000 to $30,000.

CHICAGO, November 19.—J. & W. Hassack, extensive grain dealers of Odell, Illinois, made an assignment yesterday. This is the heaviest failure ever known in Livingston county, and causes a great dismay here. Their liabilities are $250,000 to $300,000.

BOSTON, November 19.—A meeting of the creditors of Mrs. Howe, the manager of the fraudulent ladies' deposit company, was held in the insolvency court to-day. Women were present representing claims amounting to more than $150,000 Judge McKim appointed Augustus Russ receiver of the concern.

LONDON, November 19.—Higgonbottom & Co., cotton and waste merchants of Manchester, have failed. Liabilities 45,000 pounds.

Oregon's Official Vote.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 19.—The official vote of Oregon gives Garfield 763 majority.

CALIFORNIA.

WHY JUDGE TERRY WAS SCRATCHED.

An Interesting Political Episode Recalled by the Recent Vote in California—The Broderick-Terry Duel and its Effect on the Electoral Ticket.

New York World.

The defeat of one out of several presidential electors in a state is an extraordinary occurrence which has just been officially declared to have happened in California. David S. Terry is the democratic elector thus "left out in the cool." Had the pending election been as close as that of 1876 Judge Terry's defeat might have changed the complexion of our history for four years at least. There can be little doubt that the causes of this defeat lie far back of the pending election, and must be traced to the killing of Senator David S. Broderick in a duel years ago by Judge Terry. Many old residents of the eighth ward remember David S. Broderick as a young democratic "boss" in that part of New York thirty-five years ago. "Dave," the "fire laddie" and stone-mason's apprentice, just before he left New York for San Francisco, owned a popular liquor saloon which was the head quarters of the Tammany boys of Houston, Spring and Varick street neighborhoods The immediate cause of "Dave's" leaving on the first attack of the gold fever of 1849 was his unexpected defeat for congress in a democratic district, for which undoubtedly he was himself responsible. He had become a thorough political organizer, and in his new home as a fireman and ward politician he almost immediately acquired an ascendancy in democratic politics. No sooner had he secured a residence than he was chosen state senator, and by an accident during his term was made acting lieutenant governor. "Dave" immediately aspired to be United States senator, and actually spent seven years in a persistent and undaunted struggle for the prize. Three times—in 1851, 1855 and 1856—he prevented a choice by the legislature rather than see a rival chosen. In 1852 John B Weller beat Broderick by only two majority. In 1853 no election for senator occurred. In 1854 Broderick hit upon the ingenious plan of choosing himself in advance of the vacancy and nearly succeeded in the scheme. Believed to be in 1856 as dead politically as Dennis Kearney now is, and actually so unpopular as to be kept under watch by the aristocratic vigilance committee of that period, Broderick, in 1857, by bold political moves was chosen United States senator, and had so much power as to be able to dictate who his colleague should be, after obliging that colleague, Senator Gwin, in a memorable letter which afterwards became public, to agree that Broderick should enjoy all the patronage. This was an agreement which President Buchanan refused to acknowledge, and this led to a rupture between the president and Broderick, who, on one occasion, on the floor of the senate, averred that "the president's policy towards Kansas should be ascribed to the fading intellect, the petulant passion and the trembling dotage of an old man on the verge of the grave." The rupture led to the defeat in California of the Broderick democrats at the congressional elections. During that canvass David S. Terry, the recently rejected Hancock elector, made campaign speeches, although, like Judge Noah Davis, he was a justice of the supreme court. Broderick having claimed in a stump speech that he was following the lead of Douglas, Judge Terry retorted by saying that "it was the lead, not of Stephen but of Fred Douglas." Broderick was breakfasting in the International hotel, of San Francisco, with Mr. Perley, a friend both of the senator and of the judge, when the speech was read out from a morning paper. Broderick was much nettled and impulsively said: "I have said that Terry is the only honest man on the bench, but I take that back" Perley spoke up sharply at this, and left the table to go and pen a challenge, which Broderick declined on the ground that he had no quarrel with Perley, and that if he had, Perley was not his equal. Then Terry stepped into the gap, and resigning his judgeship for the purpose sent Broderick a challenge, which was accepted

The duel was fought ten miles out of San Francisco, on the morning of September 13, 1859, with dueling-pistols, at a distance of ten yards. Broderick's ball struck the ground a few paces immediately in front of Terry—Broderick's hair trigger failing him—while Terry's ball lodged in Broderick's left lung and killed him within a few days His death was regarded by the anti-slavery democrats as an assassination—a sentiment which the late general and Oregon senator, E. D. Baker, made the topic of a celebrated funeral oration over "Dave"—as his admirers continued to call him to the day of entombing his remains beneath a conspicuous monument in Lone Mountain cemetery. Terry was indicted for murder and imprisoned but never tried. During the civil war he was in the confederate army. After the war he returned to San Francisco and practiced law and re-entered politics. In August, 1879, he unsuccessfully ran on the Kearney ticket for attorney general. This year he was nominated as a presidential elector.

AN EAVES-DROPPING EVE.

What was Seen and Heard by an "English Miss" Who Came Out with Sara Bernhardt.

London Pan.

"As soon as the pilot had left, carrying Mr. George S. Boyer away in a flood of tears, Sara rushed to her cabin. So did I and was soon an agitated witness of the great creature's every action.

"By the way, I quite forgot to say that in the hurry of parting, and the crowding round her for last embraces, the ulster was torn, and bits of her expensively trimmed robe beneath flew right and left as she was torn with emotional spasms and admiring hugs. One of these bits—a piece of bronze fringe—I seized, in transports at having such a souvenir of our deesse, and it will form No 1 of my large collection of souvenirs of Sara.

"But to return to the hole in the panel. The first thing the great creature did was to look in the glass. Unrolling her ulster, scarves, and swathing bands she stood in her simple peignoir, a monument of fragile imperceptibility. I know she was there, and could see the large bunch of stephanotis at her shoulder, but the aperture was so small that it was only for an instant that she filled the area of sight.

"She was calm even to smiling, and after touching up her cheeks with white and her eyelashes with bistre she touched the electric gong which stood on a carved ivory pedestal at the door of her marine boudoir, and at its silvery call her staff of ten followers appeared together at her door. There was the novelist who writes her stories, the sculptor who touches up her statuettes, the painter who glazes into shape her paintings, the tutor to Maurice, the groom of the chamber, the musician, the prompter, the jester in ordinary and others whose duties I could not divine Sitting down in a large hammock lined with 'figured satin' and fringed with silver bells, she gave the order to unpack. All she said and did was done and said with those languishing lotus-eating airs and graces so well known to her admirers. 'De ballez-moi tout ca—et vite—vite!'

"In the twinkling of several eyes her boudoir became a small Parisian palace—Venetian glasses, ebony and ivory carvings, gold frames terra-cotta busts, marble statuettes, onyx cups, and vermeil salvers did not strew the room, but each found its place in a way which proved that many rehearsals of this transformation scene must have taken place previously.

"The loveliest oriental rugs, the most exquisite Persian embroideries, the quaintest Japanese silk paintings, filled the corners or illuminated the stools and sofas.

"How it was the hole in the panel was never stopped by some hanging miniature or intervening tapestry was a wonder. And there she was lying, her bare feet in slippers covered with pearls, fanning herself with humming-birds' wings fastened together with diamond links.

"Just opposite me was the celebrated silver coffin, lined with rose satin and the ivory skeleton holding the toilet-glass before her.

"Then the ten followers sat gravely on the longest of the Persian rugs, and, taking from various concealments in their dress sundry musical instruments, the following chorus was sung with ecstatic signs of faith and devotion:

"[Translation.]
"Sara! to thee our pæan raising,
We sing the glory of thy name;
Thy every deed and action praising,
Though that can scarce increase thy fame.

"My feeble lines do not pretend to give the vigor of the original stanza, and when I add that nothing could be more religious in its conviction or less musical in its accompaniment, you will readily believe it was a strange scene. * * The pilot waits alongside to carry these lines. More in my next. Extremely interesting and most exciting."

MRS. LANGTRY'S REVENGE.

How One Professional Beauty Got Back on Her Rival.

The London correspondent of the San Francisco News-Letter, thus writes in a recent letter:

Every one knows there is a great rivalry between Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. Wheeler—greater between them than any other of the reigning "beauties"—and that whatever one can do so as to "score" off the other, is done by each. Mrs Langtry is known to possess very beautiful arms, while Mrs. Wheeler's are thin and scraggy. On the other hand, the reverse extremities of Mrs. Wheeler are regarded by those who have seen them as models of shape and form, while Mrs. Langtry, though possessing fairly small feet when bien chaussé, can only boast of upward continuations of a very pipestem order. Well, the season before last Mrs Langtry set the fashion of the sleeveless ball dresses, and, of course, Mrs. Wheeler, much to her detriment, had to adopt the style But she set to work to think how she would retaliate, and this is how she did it. At the first ball she appeared at last season she wore a dress with a very short skirt. The prince admired it, and, as a matter of course, it became the fashion. But what was Mrs. Langtry to do? She tried it once, but the effect, as may be imagined, was disastrous. Then she set to work to cudgel her brains, and happy thought!—at the next ball, instead of adding an inch or two to her draperies, as she had first thought of doing, she had actually taken a reef in her already short skirt. But underneath appeared a pair of a certain article of ladies' lingerie, which, on the present occasion, shall be otherwise unmentionable, of Knickerbocker cut, and reaching to her ankles, where they were decreased in fulness by a narrow band, and thence fell over her instep in a short flounce of point lace. The effect was immense. The prince was more than delighted with it, and not only did Mrs. Wheeler find herself checkmated at her own game, but as the wearing of the additional garment a la Langtry at once becomes the thing, she is of course obliged to adopt it, and thus conceal what it had been her motive to so subtly disclose. It has been by such daring, and at the same time, shrewd acts as this that Mrs Langtry has become the lionne, she is, and by the continuous exercise of her audacious wits holds her own as she does. She is always equal to the occasion, and the present instance is a fair example of what she can do, and not only be tolerated, but followed.

THE COURSE OF TRUE LOVE.

A Father Claims that a Neighbor Girl Gave His Son Love Potions, but it was Only Cupid's Regular Work.

NEW YORK, November 18.—The Times has the following special from Newburg, N. Y.: A curious case was before Recorder Warring, in this city yesterday. An elderly man, named Reilly, had charged Miss Ellen Jane Quinn with improperly securing the affections of his son Phil by means of a love potion, which, the old man alleged, she had given the young man and Miss Quinn brought Mr. Reilly before the court on the charge of uttering a slander which was calculated to provoke a breach of the peace. Old Mr Reilly admitted making the charge against Miss Quinn, and with his wife and daughter declared they could prove its truth The Reillys said there had been a great, "an awful change" in the once well behaved son and brother. They alleged that he now stayed out late at night, acted very curious, "was mighty flighty," and had "what he never had before, boils!"

Miss Quinn stoutly denied having used any improper means to secure the affections of Phil. who, she admitted, was showing her attention

The clairvoyant doctress, who it was alleged had sold Miss Quinn the potion, was sworn. She said Miss Quinn had come to her and asked her for something that would make a man love her, but the doctress said she only gave the young woman some cough medicine, which she told her would accomplish the purpose.

Miss Quinn testified that this was all false. She said she never was at the doctress' house, and never spoke to the doctress She said she never gave Phil. any love potion.

Phil. himself took the stand. He said he did not know that he had been drugged. If he had been he did not know it. He went to see Miss Quinn because he wanted to. There was some other testimony, but the recorder found that Miss Quinn had neither bought nor sought to buy any love potion, and he exonerated the elder Reilly from slander, taking the ground that the old man had only said what he believed to be true.

The case is the talk of the town.

A GRAND SCHEME.

A Large Meeting Discusses Railway Communication With Mexico.

NEW YORK, November 19.—The World says an interesting meeting was held last night at the residence of C. P. Huntington in compliance with an understanding arrived at at a dinner given by M. Romero, at which a committee was appointed to consider the best means for facilitating an early and complete railway communication with Mexico. The following members of the committee were present: Chairman, General Grant, M. Romero, representing Mexico, C. P. Huntington, Southern Pacific, General Dodge, Texas Pacific, Jay Gould, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, C. F. Walrishoffer, Palmer and Sullivan grant, Edward D Adams, Mexican Central grant and Sonora grant, Thomas Nickerson, Mexican Central grant, T. Jefferson Coolidge, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fee railroad and J H. Work. The whole subject was fully discussed, the main question being the desirableness of a complete fusion of all interests represented, and a general participation in forming a new and adequate scheme for the establishment of a railway communication on an adequate scale between this country and the republic. It was unanimously resolved, as the sense of the meeting, that a complete fusion of the interests represented is advisable A sub-committee, consisting of General Grant, chairman; Nickerson, Walrishoffer, Adams, Crocker, Coolidge and Dodge, were appointed to devise a plan by which the object could be attained and justice done to all interests.

A New Substitute for Butter

CHICAGO, November 19.—The fact was developed yesterday that large quantities of a material which is called butter, and sold as such on the market, is really made of lard by a peculiar process known only to a few. One establishment in this city has been doing a prosperous business for more than a year, and has a trade so extensive that shipments are made to England. No effort whatever is made at concealment. The manufacturer is frank about it, and says the compound is not more injurious than pork. A large number of restaurants are said to be using it as butter, and the report is that other manufactories are to be opened shortly

The Wounded Soldiers.

GALVESTON, November 19.—A Corsicana special to the News says a train loaded with United States troops [illegible] Wednesday [illegible] arrived yesterday. [illegible] ously injured [illegible] Forty-eight were injured by the accident.

CRIME AND CASUALTY

THE GIBBET AND THE TORCH

Two Negro Murderers are Hung in Washington City—A Boiler Explosion Near Stevenson, Alabama, Scatters Death and Destruction in its Path.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 19.—The grand jury has found two indictments against Mayor Kalloch for official misconduct.

ST. LOUIS, November 19.—The St. Louis refinery and smelting works, situated at Chittenham, about five miles from the center of the city, were destroyed by fire at three o'clock this morning. Loss about $25,000.

WASHINGTON, November 19.—Babe Bedford and Edward Queenan, colored, who were convicted of the murder of George P. Hirth, in this city, in January last, were hanged in jail here to day, in the presence of two or three hundred spectators. Both men protested their innocence to the last and died without manifesting any noticeable emotion.

CHATTANOOGA, November 19.—Captain O'Neal's saw and grist mill one mile from Stevenson, Ala., was blown up to-day at noon by the bursting of the boiler, and was totally destroyed. Two white and two colored men were killed, two colored men wounded, probably fatally, and two white men seriously. The cause of the explosion was the carelessness of a negro engineer.

WASHINGTON, November 19.—An Italian named Charles E. Anchise, of genteel appearance and excellent address, who falsely represents himself as being connected with the secret service association of the treasury department is now traveling in the south, and by means of forged drafts on New York and the use of stolen and altered registered bonds, is swindling persons out of large sums of money. Chief Brooks of the secret service says he should be arrested wherever found and committed as a vagrant until his numerous victims have an opportunity to institute proceedings for his extradition and punishment.

CLEVELAND, O., November 17.—When Daniel Barr, a watchman in a rail mill in the Eighteenth ward, left home for his work last night his wife and three children were well, and his three-year old daughter followed him to the gate to kiss him. When he returned this morning the house was locked and no sign of life was to be seen Climbing through a window, he was horrified to find his whole family lying senseless, with a powerful odor of gas from a base burner stove pervading the air. The little daughter who last kissed him was dead, the mother and an eleven year old daughter were on the bed, and an infant was on the floor, unconscious. A neighbor's daughter visiting them was also insensible, and a woman, a friend of the family, was sitting at the foot in a comatose condition. The last named may recover, but the others will probably die.

LEBANON, MO., November 19.—William F. Martin, who was sentenced to be hanged at the last term of the Laclede county circuit court, and whose motion for a new trial is now pending in the supreme court, made his escape from the jail to-day, and is now at large. The circumstances under which he escaped are rather peculiar, and has a glamour of romance around it. A girl about seventeen years old, niece of the jailer, has been for sometime interested in Martin. He is a young man of fine address, and the girl fed him through the grates of the cell, and tried to make life as easy with him as possible by chatting to him After a while the girl fell desperately in love with him and very readily entered into a scheme to set him free. This morning about 10 o'clock she let him out of the cell, when no one was at home except the wife of the sheriff, the girl having been for some time entrusted with the keys of the jail. Martin took possession of a fine Spencer rifle that was in the ante-room of the jail, and the girl appropriated $75 of her uncle's money, and both of them left.

It was not long before the jailer's wife discovered that the jail was open and that Martin had left. The girl also was missing, and it was instantly surmised that she had gone off with him. Martin and the girl were seen once not far from town, on the Tuscumbia road. The sheriff and a posse are after him, but no one here believes that Martin will be taken alive. He has killed two men, the last one his uncle, and for this he stands convicted and sentenced to death. He is regarded as a desperado, and it is expected that some of the posse will be killed. The ground is now covered with snow, and as the country is all aroused, the girl who accompanies Martin will have some of the romance frozen out of her before her present adventure is over.

FOREIGN FLASHES.

The International Regatta and Other Matters.

LONDON, November 19.—The Times, in a leading article this morning, says: "If the cabinet or a majority of its members should be compelled to accept what, as we have said, the Irish executive deems indispensable for the performance of its functions, we trust there will be no unwise attempt to obstruct or censure that course. If the government should not deem it necessary to apply for extra powers, it is apparent that they must be prepared to face the storm of opposition, when parliament meets, which will seriously imperil the prospects of a just settlement of the land question.

The eviction at Durham continues to be carried out with great cruelty toward the families of miners. Eighteen more families have been turned into the street. Snow was falling at the time and the suffering of children was intense.

The Pall-Mall Gazette this evening, replying to the Times' editorial article, of this morning, on Irish affairs, declares that every liberal newspaper in England and Scotland dissuades the government from the immediate session of parliament, and the policy of coercion. The country, it says, desires to see the new policy tried in Ireland Coercion without a strong land bill would not be a new policy.

The Daily Telegraph points out that the cabinet must await the report of the Irish land commission before any land reform bill can be announced or any vigorous measure can be taken.

A dispatch to Reuter's telegram company from Constantinople says Mr. Goschen, British ambassador, will return to London in a few weeks.

A dispatch from Vienna to the Daily News says: Count Karaleji, who sometime ago killed Count Zechy in a duel, has been sentenced to three months imprisonment and the seconds in the duel to three weeks imprisonment.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Vienna, reports that M. Goschen will quit Constantinople immediately after the surrender of Dulcigno. Lord Dufferin or Sir Austin Layard will probably succeed him.

In the first trial heat to determine the choice of contestants for prizes in the international regatta to-morrow Ross won by a length; Hossmer, second; Riley, third; Nicholson, fourth. It was a fine run. Laycock won the second heat easy; Warren Smith second

The weather to-day was much better than yesterday, but the attendance at the international regatta was small. In the first heat Ross soon took the lead, but was passed by Nicholson off Walden's wharf—Hosmer and Riley following in the order named. On nearing "Crabtree" Ross made a spurt, and was soon after led by two lengths. Steering was very bad. Hammersmith bridg was passed in the following order: Ross, Hosmer, Riley, Nicholson. They were then separated by about a length between each two. Ross was now evidently rowing easily, but there was a good race between Hosmer and Riley for the second place. Riley despite one or two plucky spurts was unable to reach Hosmer and finished a length and a half behind him. Ross was some distance ahead. Nicholson was a bad fourth. Time of the heat to Hammersmith bridge was 11:30. In the second heat Smith led at the start and maintained his position to Putney steamboat pier, where Hawdon took the lead, with Smith second, and Laycock third. At the creek the men were in the following order: Hawdon, first; Laycock a quorter of a length behind; Trickett half a length astern of Laycock, and Smith a length behind Trickett. Above Craven cottage Laycock took the lead and was never afterward headed. At the crabtree Trickett, Hawdon and Smith were nearly on a level, and at Rose cottage Smith passed Hawdon, and in trying to pass Trickett touched the stern of the latter's boat. As the Australian was out of his water he was obliged to stop for a stroke or two, and this caused Smith and Hawdon to pass him. At the soap works the order was as follows: Laycock leading by three lengths, Smith second and Hawdon two lengths [illegible] Trickett [illegible] the third place.

The leading men maintained the same position to the finish, Laycock winning by two and a half lengths, with Smith two lengths ahead of Trickett, who was third. Time of the winner to Hammersmith was 11:27. The result is that Ross, Hosmer, Laycock and Smith are left in for the final heat to be rowed to-morrow, the time of the start for which has been altered to 2:30 o'clock p.m., which will probably allow the passage of the steamers through Hammersmith bridge.

The Sportsman says Hosmer used a peculiar kind of sail on the fore part of his boat which he adopted in his race with Laycock, and it undoubtedly hampered him greatly. Hanlan remarked that it must have made fully four lengths difference to Hosmer.

The British steamer Mildred, Captain Long, which sailed from New York September 28 for Marsailes, has founded in the Atlantic. The crew, twenty three in number, were drowned.

The coasting steamer Eliza, which foundered off St. Govan's head with all hands, had a crew of twenty men, and seven passengers.

DUBLIN, November 19.—Mr. Dillon has filed fourteen pleas of not guilty, in behalf of traversers.

Intelligence has reached the police of the Balla district that during the past week a large quantity of revolvers has been consigned to merchants in the neighborhood.

LIMERICK, November 19.—Last night a constable, who, with others had been placed in charge of a farm near New Pollan, from which a tenant was recently evicted, was shot dead while sitting at his fireside.

PARIS, November 19.—At a plenary meeting of senators belonging to the various groups of the left, General Farre, minister of war, was unanimously selected as a candidate for a life senatorship to fill the vacancy caused by the death of M Broca.

MONS, BELGIUM, November 19.—An explosion of fire damp occurred in a coal pit near this place to-day. Twenty-seven men were in the pit at the time, of whom fifteen have been rescued more or less injured. It is feared that the men still in the pit are dead.

BERLIN, November 19.—The politico-economical council will consist of seventy-five members chosen for five years. Forty-five members are to be selected from ninety names presented by the chamber of commerce and agriculture. The remainder, of whom at least fifteen must be working men, will be chosen by the ministers of commerce, public works and agriculture.

BERLIN, November 19.—A royal decree has been issued establishing a Prussian politico economical council. Herr Von Boetticher, minister of state, stated at a meeting of the representatives of German commerce that the constitution of the council would allow of its extension at any time to all the federal states, but that the federal governments had provisionally declined to co operate pending the meeting of the reichstag.

THE SUGAR CROP.

Report of Its Condition in Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, November 19.—The Democrat of to-morrow will publish a full report of the condition of the sugar crop of Louisiana for the present year, made up from replies to a circular letter, addressed to every planter in Louisiana, whose crop last year was fifty hogsheads of sugar or more, requesting information as to the present condition of crops: The number of acres planted this year and last; the average yield per acre in sugar and molasses, so far as determined from the amount already ground; the probable average yield per acre as compared with last year, and other matters of interest connected with the cane crop. To this circular about 200 replies have been received. They conform to previous report as to the excellence of the crop. Without exception they pronounce cane in a fine condition, and a large majority of them announce an increase in acreage and a large yield per acre. The reports cover the period between the 1st and 15th of the present month and are thoroughly reliable, as they came from the planters themselves and not from second and third parties. They cover the entire sugar district of the state. Information has been received from every parish in which sugar is made, except Livingston and Washington. As the total crop in these parishes last year were only thirty-six hogsheads of sugar and one hundred and nineteen barrels of molasses, their omission from the reports will not affect crop calculations. From nearly all the large sugar parishes information is sufficiently full as regards the increased yield and acreage to serve as a basis for estimating the crop of this year. It may be remarked, however, that our reports were received before the cold weather of the past two days, and whatever percentage of damage was produced thereby must be deducted from the estimates.

The Democrat's special telegraphic reports indicate that considerable damage was done in St. Landry and Iberia, while in St. Mary, Lafourche and Baton Rouge, the cane has fared better and may not be injured at all. Reports from the parishes of Ascension, Assumption, Avayelles, East and West Baton Rouge, Iberia, Iberville, Lafourche, Plaquemine, Pointe Coupee, Rapids, St James, St. John, St. Landry, St. Mary and Terrebonne show an increase of 580,008 hogsheads Those parishes produced in 1879, 142,006 hogsheads, or 5-6 of the crop of the state. The same percentage of increase in other parishes from which we have not received sufficient details to make estimates would give a total crop for the state of 237,000 hogsheads, at which we place it, owing to the ripeness of the cane and the riche quality of the juice this year, as compared with last season. The yield of molasses does not show a corresponding increase, although it will be in excess of the crop of 1879; then it aggregated 12,189,190 gallons. This year it will probably reach 13,000,000 gallons.

Vitriol Throwing in Wellsville.

WELLSVILLE, O., November 19.—Miss Ursula Apple, into whose face vitriol was thrown by some unknown person when summoned to the door, last Friday night, continues to improve. It is now known that acid was carried to the door in a common pepper-box, which was found in an adjoining field. Who the guilty person is has not been discovered, though many believe the deed to have been done by a woman disguised as a man. The room in which Miss Apple stood when assailed reveals the terrible effects of the deadly stuff which was intended to disfigure her for life. On a wooden mantel fifteen feet from the door, the paint was burned off by the acid. Twelve or fifteen holes were shown in the carpet, and a large hole in a cane-seat chair which stood near the door. The back of the young lady's dress was completely burned off, which proves that when she turned and retreated from the door the demon made a second attempt to finish his devilish work in torturing his innocent victim. The doctors think the burns will not leave scars

From Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, November 10, via Havana November 19.—General Gonzales, president-elect, has arrived at the capital It is rumored that he will have matters as before the election, almost all the officials retaining their posts The French ambassador will be escorted to the Mexican shores by the French West India naval division The Pacific mail company having refused after an expiration of their contract with the Mexican government to renew the contract on a new basis, no steamers of that line now touch at Mexican ports on the Pacific coast. The yellow fever has suddenly appeared at Vera Cruz, and raged with violence during October, but is now slowly diminishing.

Liverpool Cotton Review.

LIVERPOOL, November 19.—This week's circular of the Liverpool cotton brokers' association says that cotton was in fair demand throughout the week Prices were rather irregular, with a tendency in favor of the buyers. American was in good bequest, but free supply continuing The quotations are reduced 1 16d. In sea island a large business was done, and the market is firm Futures opened steady and throughout the week the market has been quiet, slightly fluctuating. The tone was better on Thursday, and the market closed firm at an advance of fully 1 16d.

Mining Affairs.

SAN FRANCISCO. November 19.—Dispatches from Gold Hill, Nevada, says: Captain Taylor, superintendent of Yellow Jacket mine, has notified all superintendents of mines concerned that he will to-day stop bailing water at Yellow Jacket shaft. The reason is that the wear and tear of machinery and cables is too great to be continued. This will flood the lower levels of Exchequer, Alpha, Consolidated, Imperial, Confidence, Kentuck, Crown Point and Belcher mines, and stop work there for six weeks.

Found On the Sidewalk.

About 2 o'clock this morning as Captain Flynn was making his rounds, he discovered a bundle of hay which had been left on Loyd street by some one who had had it in possession. Later he also found twenty bundles of new rope in front of a store on Alabama street. The property was removed to the station-house, [illegible] merchant.

ALL AROUND US.

WHAT THE PEOPLE ARE DOING.

Grand Concert and Supper in Griffin—Two Horse Thieves Caught Up With—Wedding in Gainesville—A Cutting Scrape Enlivens Athens—Etc., Etc.

GAINESVILLE, November 18.—This morning about 8 o'clock two men were seen riding through our town on splendid horses, they went to McLendon's stable and put up. They were suspicious looking characters. After they had been at the stable awhile they offered to sell the horses and finally offered to take $125 for the two, and right here they were detected. Marshall T. N. Hanie took the two men into custody. They at first seemed very indignant and said they could prove that they were all right and offered to telegraph to friends, who could inform the marshall that nothing was wrong. Hanie went to the telegraph office with them. while they concluded to carry the message themselves, consequently they put off down the railroad at full speed. They were soon arrested and then it was they told the tale. Their names are James Tally and Robert Rowe, they are step brothers and live in Pickens county, Georgia. The horses, they say, are the property of Berry Howk, living 8 miles from Calhoun, Georgia. They say they stole them about twelve o'clock last Thursday night. The horses and men are in the custody of Tom Hanie, where they will remain till further orders The men aroused suspicion upon their entrance into town. The horses were unusually fine ones and the men unusually rough ones This case reflects credit upon Marshal Hanie as a watchful and efficient officer, as he was watching after the boys after their entrance into town.

GRIFFIN, November 19.—The concert and supper at the opera-house last evening was well attended, and was a decided success, both in an artistic and financial point of view. The singing of Mrs. Hampton was much applauded, as was that of Miss Birdie Little, of Talbotton, who rendered "Bird Carol" most exquisitely, receiving a rapturous encore, to which she gracefully responded Messrs. Wall, Stephenson and Westbrook sang solos in an admirable manner. The duet, "Go Thou and Dream, Love," by Mrs. Mollie Johnson and Miss Annie Trammell elicited much interest and was very sweetly sung by these two ladies. The supper at the Guards' armory, after the concert, was a well served feast. The ladies of St George's church are to be congratulated upon the success of both entertainments.——Miss Fannie Woodruff left for a short visit to Atlanta to-day.——Miss Rosa Beck leaves next week for Florida.

AERIAL, HABERSHAM CO., November 18.—On last Monday two Mormon preachers had it spread through this community that they would preach at a citizen's house about two miles from this place at 7 o'clock p.m. At the appointed time a considerable company met, and the services commenced. One preacher went through his discourse without interruption; the other was not so fortunate. He soon used some language that did not suit some young men that were present, and they were about to use something rougher than language, but were prevented by the landlord. They then offered to pay the landlord if he would get them out of his house, but he declined So the meeting broke up in a row, and the Mormons have gone, probably never to return.

LAGRANGE, November 17.—Dr. Jim Beaseley, of West Point, and Miss Lila Lang, from near that city, were married in the Baptist church of this place yesterday morning, Rev. Pope Calaway officiating The church was crowded. The Langs are an English family and the ceremony was conducted in the English style.——Kranty Taffe, a three-year-old grandchild of Mrs. F. E. Owen, was run over by a buggy yesterday afternoon and died last night. The child's father and mother both died of the yellow fever, and it's grandmother had taken it and a little brother to raise. Much sympathy is felt for the family.——The members of the Methodist Sunday-school meet at the church next Friday evening to make arrangements for a Xmas tree.

GASTONIA, N. C., November 18.—The news of Hon. Joseph E. Brown's election to the senate was received here with much interest. He is regarded as one of the wisest statesmen in the south. ——One hundred and twenty tons more of rail road iron arrived here this week for the Chester and Lenoir narrow gauge railroad. It will about complete the line from this point to Lincolnton. Messrs. Wilkins, Post & Co., Atlanta contractors, have about completed the bridge over South Fork river, and laying the iron will be pushed rapidly forward.——Dr. John D McLean, a son of Dr. William McLean, who was one of the participants in the battle of King's Mountain, is lying dangerously ill at his home in Gaston country.

SPARTA, November 17.—To-day three medals were awarded at the Sparta high school A gold medal of beautiful design, clear and tasteful engraving and rich workmanship, was won by Miss W. E. Powell, daughter of Mr. LaFayette Powell and niece of Dr. T. S. Powell, of Atlanta This medal was awarded for merit in penmanship and spelling. The other two medals which are of rare beauty, are worthily worn by George L. Middlebrooks, grandson of Bishop Pierce, and Walter T. Thomas, son of Dr. F. A. Thomas, and nephew of Dr. J. R. Thomas, so long president of Emory college. These medals were won by excellency in declamation, George securing the first, Walter, the second.

DECATUR, November 19.—Mrs. Wm. A. Gilbert died at this place yesterday. She was the wife of one of our enterprising young merchants and daughter of Mr Seaborn Crawley, who was one of the first settlers in this county. She had a large number of relatives and friends in this and adjoining counties, who will deeply regret her death, as she was greatly beloved by all who knew her.——Mr. George A. Ramspeck is moving to his new dwelling on Broad street, which has just been completed. It is a very handsome residence and is said to be the finest in the county. ——Mrs. George W. F. Craig, of Lawrenceville, is spending a few days at her old homestead near this place.

ATHENS, November 18.—A difficulty occurred this afternoon between John Smith, of Jackson county, and John Bird, of this place. The former was badly cut, but not seriously. Smith provoked the difficulty it is said.——Rev. Mr Jackson, of Macon, has been called to Emanuel church, Athens. It is hoped he will accept.——Almost all the musical talent of the city will participate in the rendition of "Queen Esther" on Friday night ——The Galley Slave troupe drew the second largest house of the season.——Report says we are to have five weddings within the next thirty days.

MARIETTA, November 18.—Married last night, at the residence of the bride's father, by the Rev. D. L Buttolph, Mr. R. H. Northcutt to Miss Nellie Winters, both of our city. An elegant reception was tendered the bride and groom and their many friends by Mr. John R. Winters, and many wishes of congratulations were offered the happy pair. ——One good sign of the prosperity of our city is that there is not a single empty store or dwelling house in the city. What city of the same size can say as much?

ELBERTON, November 18.—The first killing frost of the season last Tuesday morning.——Elberton is to have a cotton seed oil factory.——F. W Smith was brought before the ordinary yesterday on a charge of lunacy. The jury decided that he was not insane.——Great rejoicing in Elbert over the election of ex-Governor J E. Brown, United States senator He was the choice of nearly all the people in the country.

EAST POINT, November 17.—Campbell county boasts of the largest baby of its age. It is six months and two weeks old and weighs seventy eight pounds. It's father's name is Andy Strickland, and lives two and one-half miles from Ben Hill post-office. Who can beat that? This statement is true.

What the Papers Say.

Eastman Times.

On Tuesday last Mr. Hamilton Clark, a highly respectable citizen of this county, was bitten by a spider, and from the effects of which he was thrown into convulsions and his life almost despaired of. We heard from him late on Tuesday night, however, and he was thought to be something better.

Columbus Enquirer.

A sad death was the accidental drowning of the little son of Mr. James W. Perdeu on Wednesday last, during the high waters, in a small stream near Geneva. He was playing near the edge of the ditch when the bank gave way and precipitated him into the swolen stream. No one saw him at the time, but he was missed in a few minutes and the signs of his fall, together with his hat lodged against a bush in the water, were discovered. Friends were near by making syrup; the stream was immediately dragged and his body found some 150 yards below, four or five feet under water.

Hawkinsville Dispatch.

One day last week Sam Irwin, a colored man, with an old army musket, fired into a large drove of wild duck as they were hovering over a lake, and killed eight—all drakes and of the large greenhead kind. Sam brought some of his ducks to Hawkinsville, and sold them at the rate of three for a dollar. Little Dan Powell killed two at one shot, and both of his were drakes. Sam Irwin's old musket has been reconstructed since it fell into his possession. Several inches of the barrel were cut off, and a tube put in, and when he fills it with powder and shot, "things are going to happen," as he says.

Butler Herald.

We regret to learn of a serious difficulty which occurred at Knoxville on the 29th of October, resulting in the serious wounding of an innocent party. We learn that in the afternoon of the day mentioned there arose a dispute between Mr. Robert Patterson and Mr. Ogletree, in which a knife and pistol were drawn, Mr. Ogletree being much intoxicated. Friends of both parties fearing serious trouble endeavored to separate them, when Mr. Ogletree fired, inflicting a serious if not fatal wound upon the body of Mr. J. M. Wilder, an industrious young man who is highly respected by the citizens of Crawford county. It is an unfortunate affair and much to be regretted. Mr. Ogletree was immediately arrested and will doubtless answer to the charge.

[illegible] nearly resembling that of the sun, and many degrees brighter than gas. The machine being new and the belting not set so as to prevent slipping, caused the light to occasionally subside, but a few more nights' running will obviate this. The machine used, as we have previously stated, is Brush's, and is of 10,000 candle capacity The motive power is water, costing nothing. The introduction of the electric light by the Eagle and Phenix manufacturing company will, we trust, be the means of finally bringing it into general use, and we hope the day is not far distant when our streets will be lighted by it.

Bellton North Georgian.

One of those strange and inexplicable occurrences usually attributed to some improper influence on the mind of the prospective mother, has just occurred in our town. The victim of this misfortune is the first born son of Mr. H. M. Breaker, one of the editors of the Christian Monitor, published at this place. Mr. Breaker married Miss Jennie E. Brown, of Chattanooga, about two years ago, and came to Bellton shortly afterwards and went into business with his father. There is in the neighborhood a woman whose face has been partly destroyed by cancer. Mrs. Breaker has known her ever since she came here; and, having seen her so frequently, none of the family thought there was any risk in her seeing her after she became enciente. But the child is a fac simile of the woman referred to. The occurrence has cast a gloom over the entire family. Mr. Breaker is a handsome man, and his wife is a very pretty lady. They have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

Douglasville Star.

Wherever the African race is to be found superstition prevails and voudouism abounds. Reuben Phillips, a negro of this county, for some time has been afflicted with a constitutional complaint of the most serious nature, which has frequently caused eruptions on his face. Although he has received medical treatment, and has been advised of the nature and cause of his chronic ailment, he firmly believes that he has been poisoned by Jonas Bryant, another negro, who he asserts, placed a "voudou charm" in his hat for that purpose. This has caused bad blood on the part of both, and they have frequently quarrelled. On Friday, Jonas Bryant and Joe Phillips, a brother of Reuben Phillips, met and angry words ensued when the subject was mentioned Ben Sewell was present and endeavored to prevent a fight. During the melee, Joe Phillips in cutting at Jonas Bryant, cut Ben Sewell on the hand severing all the leaders of the fingers so that his hand now hangs useless at his side. The wound was dressed by Dr. J L Selman, who says the hand is ruined and will never again be a benefit to its owner. Phillips made good his escape, and is still at large.

Macon Herald.

Mr. Cullen Battle, a son of Rev. Dr. A. J. Battle, president of Mercer university, narrowly escaped a fatal accident while making the giant swing, the most dangerous of all gymnastic exercises, and at which persons are often killed and badly injured The "giant swing" consists in sweeping through the air, with the body at full length, and circling clear around the pole, swinger holding on to the horizontal bar with his hands. As Mr. Battle made the circle and while the body was at its greatest momentum and had swept back with Mr. Battle's face towards the pole, his hands slipped their hold, while Mr. Battle's body was nearly in a horizontal position, in full flight, and he was thrown violently backward, turning a full somersault in the air, his feet striking against a wall some three yards away from the pole and several feet from the swing of the body. It was heaven's protection that threw Mr Battle against the wall, for had he not struck it he would have fallen on his head with terrific force against the hard floor. As it was the feet, sticking the wall first, threw Mr. Battle upon the floor on his shoulders. Mr. Battle received a terrible shock and was picked up somewhat stunned by the fall, fortunately not even a bone was broken. Had Mr. Battle's hands slipped while his body was in the air on the opposite side of the pole from which he fell, he would have been hurled through the window out upon Mulberry street.

DELESSEPS'S DITCH.

The Financial Programme Elucidated for the Darien Canal.

PARIS, November 19.—The capital of the Panama canal company will be 300,000,000 francs, divided into 600,000 shares of 500 francs each. Ten thousand shares being reserved by the statutes for the civil company of original concessionees for the concession contributed by that company 590,000 shares remain for public subscription.

The issue will be made at par, twenty five francs being paid at the subscription, 100 on allotment, and the rest as required. The total cost is estimated at 600,000,000 francs. The sum necessary for completing the canal, over and above the capital, will be raised by the issue of obligations.

Five per cent interest is to be paid on shares during the execution of the work. Of the net profit 80 per cent is allotted shareholders by the terms of concession.

DeLesseps states that contractors have sent in their estimates, according to which the construction of the canal will not cost 500,000,000 francs, and that it has been provided by a memorandum signed July 7th, that a special American committee, sitting in New York, shall represent the interests of the company in the United States as to all that relate to the observance of the neutrality of the canal, and be settled as a law of concession of the republic of Colombia.

The Grain Market.

LIVERPOOL, November 19.—A leading grain circular says a change of the wind has enabled many overdue wheat laden vessels to reach the ports of call. Cargoes sold steadily; only fifteen remained unsold yesterday. Prices, particularly for red American, decidedly favored the sellers, at the same time a gradual advance of the first cost, and freights tends to maintain firmness on this side and with the large consumptive demand and frequent speculative transactions on spot prices at Liverpool and neighboring markets further improve. Maise was also rather higher, both on spot and for future delivery. To-day's market was fully attended. There was a fair general demand for wheat at Tuesday's extreme prices, with occasionally a penny advance. Flour was in better request. Corn was in tolerably good request at a half pence to a penny higher for mixed

Cold and Crumley.

Atlanta is beset with solicitors. We do not mean candidates for solicitors, but those who solicit alms at every street corner, and ferret like, find their way to the smallest nook of a retreat. Every conceivable excuse is offered for the persistency of the request. One modestly asks for ten cents to help him secure an artificial leg, having lost one by white swelling. The latest excuse was rendered yesterday by a rubicund visaged, seedy-looking man. It had the merit of novelty at least The s of a met ex Congressman Candler on the street and grasping him by the hand, said, "How are you, judge?" Captain Candler denied the aspiration. "Well, you feel yourself above me do you?" the solicitor queried. With a yellow-quent smile Captain Candler responded, "Oh. no, we are about the same heighth." "Well, then, give me a quarter, for I feel cold and crumley"

An Escaped Convict.

At the last term of DeKalb superior court Reuben Avery, colored, was convicted of riot and attempting to cut the marshal of Decatur, and sentenced to nine months on the county public works He was leased to Mr. W. P. House, and put to work in a distillery. Yesterday he was soundly whipped for getting drunk, and as he did not like such treatment took advantage of the first opportunity which was offered for escape. He is now at large, but as he is well known will hardly escape an early rearrest.

Signor Blitz Killed While Hunting.

HACKENSACK, N. Y., November 19.—Eugene Harding, known as Signor Blitz, a sleight-of hand performer, was instantly killed to-day, while duck-shooting on Hackensack river, near Little ferry, Bergen county. He was in the act of stepping out of a boat when the trigger of his gun caught in the bow and was discharged, the contents entering his left side. He fell back exclaiming "I am dying," and immediately expired.

Christopher Columbus's Remains.

SANTO DOMINGO, via HAVANA, November 6.—Congress has passed a decree that, considering the proofs sufficient that the remains found in the cathedral on September 10, 1879, are those of Christopher Columbus, a monument to enshrine them shall be erected at the capital. All American governments are solicited to make subscriptions therefor, the government of Santo Domingo contributing $10 000.

Governor Williams's Condition.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 19.—Governor Williams has been quite ill for several days but was not considered dangerous until today. He became more easy this morning and has continued so during the day. His physician and friends now express most serious apprehensions as to his condition owing to his great age and extreme prostration.

A WONDROUS BEAUTY.

NEW YORK SOCIETY'S YOUNG PET.

Lovely Mrs. Rennie—The Gothamite Mrs. Langtry is a Brunette, with Flashing Eyes, Clear Complexion, Perfect Features, and Only Seventeen Years Old.

Correspondence Cincinnati Enquirer.

NEW YORK, November 12.—We at last have a professional beauty here in New York. That is to say, we have a beautiful woman whom fashion has set upon a pedestal to bow down before and worship. Her name is Rennie, and she is the wife of Professor Mason Rennie, formerly an expert in the employ of John W. Mackey in Nevada. The professor made a considerable fortune in mining, and knew when to stop. In San Francisco he met the girl who is his wife. It is said that she is Mexican, or at least of mixed Mexican and Spanish parentage. She is not more than 17, but being a brunette she looks 20 or so. She is the bride of a year. Her height is about five feet seven, and she has a faultless figure—just full enough to be round, with pleasing swells and tapers, and a perfectly graceful carriage. Her head is held proudly, but without stiffness. Her hair is coal-black and naturally abundant. If I have left her face to describe last, it is because that is the climax of her beauty. Her complexion is as dark as a quadroon's, but without a tinge of yellowness, being as bright and clear as that of a blonde. The richness of her color is something marvelous. Her eyes are large, black, and the most passionately impressive I ever saw. Her features are precisely regular, except that her lips are rather firm, though shapely. Indeed, the regularity of her features would, in a girl of less warmth of color cause a lack of expression; but in her case the blood comes too close to the surface, and the eyes flash too spiritedly to permit of such a detriment. She is indeed a glorious creature. At a theatre, in the street, at church, everywhere she goes, all eyes are admiringly upon her. Allowing for the widest differences of taste, it is only fair to set her down as the most beautiful woman in New York. And that is saying a good deal, and when I call her a professional beauty I simply adopt a phrase used respectfully enough in London to designate Mrs. Langtry, Lady Lonsdale, Mrs. Cornwallis, West, and several other highly respected women famous for their personal charms, and who do not affect to be unaware of the admiration which they excite. Mrs. Rennie has begun a similar reign in this city. She will be all the rage this winter. At the front of theatre boxes she has already become a rival of the attractions on the stage. At the opera she is the focus of all glasses. Society is talking of her. She has appeared in tableaux at the Murray Hill opera house and Union League theatre for charity. She is to preside at the principal booth of the orphans' fair, in the Metropolitan music garden, next month. She is in general request in the wealthiest and most exclusive circles. It is a freak of fashion to make a pet of her. Her friends say that adulation has not spoiled her; that she is amused by it, and disposed to enjoy it in all proper ways; that she has brains enough to prevent her from becoming vain; that she is devoted to her husband, and not the least bit inclined to flirt. Certainly her demeanor in public is modest and gracious, though she takes no pains to hide herself from the general gaze. Samuel J Tilden, General Grant, and Governor Cornell were presented to her at the academy of music the other evening, but not simultaneously. Uncle Sammy is a gallant

"I have heard of you, Mrs. Rennie," he said, "and am really delighted to meet you."

The sly old dog! Wasn't that an ingenious compliment? It was as much as to say, "I have heard of your wondrous beauty, and the reality exceeds my expectation." Prof Rennie is a quiet, polite man of 40, very attentive to his wife, and mighty proud of her. The pair live at the Westminster hotel, comfortably, but not lavishly. Several photographers have asked to make pictures of her to sell, but she has thus far declined. It is probable however, that they will be among the wares at the charity fair.

Mrs Rennie's dress is thoroughly fashionable, but not remarkably expressive Some of her garments illustrate new styles, and are therefore worth briefly describing. A seal-brown jacket is worn with a silk skirt of lighter shade, trimmed with narrow bands of velvet, the jacket having sealskin for its trimming, consisting of a wide flounce, cuffs and collar. Another of her jackets is black, and is worn with a black skirt of silk and satin, trimmed profusely with jet and the jacket has a wide sailor collar of black satin, embroidered in jet, with fringe of the same at the edge. One of her hats is of dark brown, with a large, square crown, and a brim of medium width turned up towards the front on the left side, and towards the back on the right. The only trimming consists of two ostrich feathers, a short one turning over the brim in front, and a long one going round the hat and falling behind. She looks particularly well in a black felt Spanish hat, almost covered with three black feathers festooned, one behind another, on the left side, with gold ornaments, the brim having a full binding and lining of black velvet. Generally she does not wear such Spanish things as are commonly seized upon by dark brunettes. She wore on a second evening at the Fifth Avenue theater, a handkerchief suit of dark blue, the material being heavy cashmere, with borders of narrow lines of red and yellow silk. The skirt had simply a deep kilting, with the border at the edge, and a red palayeuse below. The front of the tunic was composed of four handkerchiefs—or rather of two cut in half, and placed two on each side, point over point. At the back a drapery was formed of two more. The bodice was one of long basques, trimmed with the border and a tiny frill of red silk, which went around the throat, down the front and round the basques. The cuffs, and the lining of a hood that was worn with it, were of red and yellow striped silk.

COMING.

One Hundred Swiss Emigrants for Georgia.

ZURICH, SWITZERLAND, November 19.—Atlanta Constitution: I will leave Havre on Saturday, December 4th, with one hundred emigrants for the Piedmont belt. C. A. BEIDERMANN,
No. 17 Schuzenstrasse.

This is encouraging. It will be recollected that on the 22d of July last, Mr. C. A. Beidermann and wife sailed for Switzerland as the immigration agents of the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line railway.

Mr. Beidermann, we learn from private sources found immigration agents there from other portions of the United States. They were using every effort that ingenuity could suggest to induce the hardy Swiss to leave their country for the sections represented by them. But they seemed too anxious to secure emigrants, and not being natives, the press and people soon got "down on them" and they gave up the chase.

Mr B., without ostentation, announced his presence as a farmer from Georgia, who would give to enquirers all the information he could as to this country He printed in the German language a description of the climate, etc., of the Piedmont region. Settlers poured in upon him, and his office was besieged with enquirers. Many wrote to him that if they had not known him they would not have given credit to the statements made about Georgia and the Carolinas.

The telegram above announces his success. These immigrants will come prepared to buy and develop farms in northeast Georgia and add to our productive prosperity. They will bring in at least $50,000 to the state. They will receive a cordial welcome into the Georgia Switzerland.

The Air-Line railroad has 300,000 acres of land registered for sale and will be able to furnish them with homes at reasonable prices.

The immigrants will arrive about the 23d or 24th of December next. The ball is in motion. Let 'er roll.

The Lawrenceville Railroad.

Dr. John W. Moorman, of Lawrenceville, was in the city yesterday and reports business lively in his town. The grading has all been done on the Lawrenceville narrow gauge railroad. The work of laying the rail is progressing, and over three miles of track has been put down from Suwanee, and the hands are expected to reach the Peachtree road four miles distant from the main track of the Air Line in a day or so. The engine is expected to reach here in a few days. It is a little beauty, and we learn it is proposed to name it "Jim McCool" the "Flying Irishman." The early completion of this road is an assured fact.

Wanton and Reckless.

The frequency of late with which trains are rocked and fired at calls for prompt action on the part of all lovers of law and right and summary punishment of offenders. A few nights since a passenger train on the Georgia railroad was rocked near Messenia. A day or two since two tramps deliberately fired at the conductor and brakesman of a freight train on the Air-Line railroad between Black's and Gaffney's in South Carolina. The parties were arrested at Blacks, and have been committed to jail in Spartanburg, South Carolina.

Mr. DuBignon.

One of the most efficient members of the house is Mr. DuBignon, of Baldwin. He is an excellent representative and his constituency will approve him.

DOWN IN DIXIE.

IN Baltimore there are nine stove manufactories employing 480 hands.

JUST 1,523 persons are engaged in the manufacture of cotton seed oil in New Orleans.

THERE are 626 hands employed in manufacturing wagons and carriages in Baltimore.

THE full vote of Virginia in the late election was 216,758. Hancock beat Garfield 44,000.

THE only city in the union having and supporting an opera stock company is New Orleans.

The Constitution.

1881 THE CONSTITUTION. 1881

Never in our history has a reliable, first-class newspaper been so essentially needed by the Southern people as at present.

Never has THE CONSTITUTION been as thoroughly equipped and so fully prepared to furnish such a paper as at present.

With telegraphic service unequalled by any Southern paper; with trained Correspondents in every locality in which its readers are interested. With a capable Editorial Staff, a corps of efficient Reporters, and the best of "special" contributors, THE CONSTITUTION can promise to its readers that it will be better than ever before, and will confirm its position as the leading Southern newspaper.

While THE CONSTITUTION will carry the general news of the day, and express its opinions frankly on political topics, it will devote special attention to the development of Southern resources in all legitimate channels or directions.

Every Georgian and every man interested in Southern enterprise and growth should read THE CONSTITUTION in one of its editions.

THE Cincinnati Gazette is correct when it says that the Cincinnati Southern road should be leased for a long term to a company strong enough to secure to the road good connections throughout the southeast. The sooner this is done the better for the city that owns the road, the Gazette should have added.

ONE-THIRD of the cotton crop has left the hands of the farmers; and if the bears in Liverpool or New York attempt to force down the price, they will encounter an antagonistic force in the men who hold in the neighborhood of two million bales. The opinion prevails that the bottom price has been reached, no matter how large the crop may turn out.

*THE population of Massachusetts does not greatly exceed that of Georgia; but in the former state there are 31 cities each containing more than ten thousand inhabitants, while in Georgia there are only 5 such towns. This shows what manufactures do towards the building up of towns; and a good supply of towns always makes the farmers laugh, because they afford good markets near at hand.

GENERAL GRANT has found in a Mexican railway scheme work that he can perhaps do to better advantage than any other American. He is now co-operating with the various interests that are seeking rail connection with the City of Mexico, and the prospect now is that all these heavy interests will be combined to build a line from the frontier to the capital of Mexico. If General Grant brings about, or even helps to bring about such a result, he should immediately be promoted from the ranks of the loafers to those of the workingmen of the country.

THE battle over the apportionment question is coming on, for General Walker, who although a republican is an honest man, says the returns will be ready in time for action by the present congress. Dilatory tactics are therefore all that is left to the republicans. "Should "they succeed," says the Baltimore Gazette, "the south must prepare to be de-"spoiled of her political rights; for there "cannot be any doubt that the republi-"can congress will attempt to carry "through the revolutionary scheme of "cutting down the representation of the "southern states under the new appor-"tionment. It is a curious retribution "upon the republican party, by the way, "that the scheme of enfranchising the "negro voters, which was adopted ex-"pressly to perpetuate that party in "power, should now return to plague its "inventors; for but for such enfranchise-"ment the south would not now enjoy "its present influence in politics and the "republican party would not be con-"fronted with the prospective heavy in-"crease in southern representation in "congress and in the electoral college "which they can only prevent by unfair "and revolutionary means. The battle, "however, is yet to be fought, and we see "no reason to apprehend defeat for the "southern states, provided the demo-"cratic majority proceeds with prompt-"ness to the work in hand and pushes "through the reapportionment without "delay."

A History of Georgia.

We present elsewhere a series of letters from a number of the most distinguished citizens of Georgia indorsing the suggestion already made in these columns with respect to the need of a history of Georgia, and urging the legislature to make such an appropriation as will enable Mr. Charles C. Jones, Jr., who has peculiar qualifications, to prosecute the work. It is to be hoped that the members of the legislature will give their attention to the matter, to the end that the traditions and records may be preserved not only in permanent form, but in a shape that will prove attractive to readers of taste and education. The volumes that are now known as histories of Georgia are merely monographs, and the records upon which they are based were fragmentary. Through no fault of those who wrote them, they are not even a complete reflex of the periods of which they treat. Mr. Jones has accumulated data relating to the colonial period which were not within reach of earlier writers, and if the legislature does its duty, he will give us a complete history of the state from the settlement of the colony down to the administration of Governor Smith.

THE Ohio office-seeker was never happier than at this moment, and the entire state is in a ferment. The symptoms are that Foster's calico bunting will be hung out where the red bandanna was wont to wave.

SINCE Bernhardt's first night's performance, Mr. Willie Winter has not made the atmosphere pallid with his livid compositions. We trust nothing we have said has caused Mr. Winter to desist, because, really, his style is too suggestive of our own ardent clime to meet our disapprobation. We prefer to believe that Mr. Winter has not banked his fires, but is merely cruising around in order to get a breath of fresh air.

MR. HEWITT is doubtless of the opinion that Truth would lie just as often in a two-story building as at the bottom of a well.

PHILP should marry an actress and travel.

MR. BLAINE has evidently gone into winter quarters. He should consult a milliner and have his plume repaired.

JUDGE NOAH DAVIS as good as apologizes to Mr. Hewitt, but the latter is still sore. This comes of rubbing up against methods in politics that ought not to be tolerated by honest men. The democratic leaders evidently went into this business under the idea that the devil must be fought with fire, but Satan's system of pyrotechnics is not to be learned in a day. Whenever the democrats leave their principles by the roadside and undertake the tactics of the republicans they will be beaten.

POLITENESS is a relative term. There are plenty of people too polite to earn their bread.

THE "suspicious inconsistency" which enabled two-thirds of the members of the general assembly to unite in sending Joe Brown to the United States senate is a step slightly in advance of some of the politicians; but the latter may be depended upon to catch up.

WE hear no complaints recently that THE CONSTITUTION is on the fence. On the contrary, there have been loud protests because we dismounted and shelled the woods. The politicians are not coy, but some of them are hard to please.

IN Tennessee, recently, Mr. A. R. Fox was married to Miss Amanda Dey. It is about time to revise one of our most popular proverbs.

WE are not now prepared to dispute Bob Ingersoll's theory that the surest method of destroying the democratic party is to uproot the Christian religion.

MR. CHALMERS, of Mississippi, proposes, it is said, to weed out the Vicksburg Herald by starting another paper. The Herald, it seems, is not edited by an Okolona statesman.

IT is thought that Senator David Davis is about to startle the country by climbing to his old position on the roof of the fence.

THE republicans are making what might be termed a very copious effort to tease Stilson Hutchins, of the Washington Post. It need not be said that in this business the republicans are at a tremendous disadvantage. Mr. Hutchins is not a man to be teased with impunity. He wields a very active pen.

LET the north take warning. We are about to fill up the bloody chasm with lint cotton in order to give all who chance to stumble over something nice and soft to fall on.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

H. T. P.—"Do you believe that Kelly sold out the democratic party in New York?" We do not know that he did—the writer doubts it very much. But it is probable that by making factious opposition to Tilden at Cincinnati he prevented the nomination of the only man who could have won the fight for the democracy.

E. P. T.—"Is the $25 paid for tickets to see Bernhardt the highest price ever paid for show tickets?" Probably the highest price, to run the house through. When Jenny Lind came to America to sing, Genin, the hatter, bid $500 at public auction for a choice of seats. For the Dickens readings $5 to $12 was paid for tickets.

"READER"—"What is the origin of the word 'puff?'" The word comes from a very curious custom. In France when coiffures were the rage court ladies wore ornaments on the hair to represent current events—as for instance, when Port Mahon was taken they wore miniature fortresses, when the little king was born they wore cradles in their head-dresses. These ornaments were called "pouffs," from which our word "puff."

MARY.—"Where are the lines commencing 'Pleasures are like poppies spread' to be found and what is the quotation?" In Burns's Tim O'Shanter. The verse runs, as we remember it—

"Pleasure, like poppies, spread;
We seize the flower, the bloom is shed;
Or, like the snow-falls in the river—
In sight a moment—then melts forever?"

If you begin with them you are apt to get a distaste for them as simply difficult, and to have little appreciation of their value as literature.—Nethod

Senator Joseph E. Brown.

Gainesville Eagle.

This is not a lucky year for sons of Chatham.

Albany News and Advertiser.

From the looks of the vote it seems that Joe Brown is certainly elected and it looks as though he's going there to stay.

Hawkinsville Dispatch.

Senator Brown is an able statesman and a shrewd financier, and when judgment and argument are need to advance a cause, or to sustain it, he can be relied upon. The south will need such men in the next congress.

Rome Tribune.

A new era has dawned upon Georgia—may it bring forth good fruits and spread happiness and prosperity from the mountains to the gulf. It required brave men to vote for Governor Brown. Let us wait and see how he will discharge his trust.

Nashville American, dem.

Georgia has done well to elect the liberal and progressive ex-Governor Brown to the senate. It is the democracy of Georgia, and not the so-called independents, which is liberal and progressive. It is the bourbons in Georgia who go off to flock by themselves and leave Georgia and democracy the better for their going.

Charlotte Observer, dem.

The recent election in Georgia, and the more recent election of Governor Brown to the United States senate, shows how loosely party lines rest on the democrats of the empire state. Mr Brown voted for General Grant both times that he was a candidate for the presidency, and in 1872 was a delegate to the republican convention that nominated him. Verily, we live in a fast political age.

Dalton Citizen.

Though the governor was proscribed, traduced and unjustly assailed by his enemies upon a false sentiment, we yet have full confidence in his fealty to Georgia and in his exalted patriotism, and can implicitly entrust him with Georgia's and the south's interests in the legislative halls of the nation. We make this prediction, viz: that those who have sought to cast a foul blot upon his fair name will yet live to honor and revere him.

Chattanooga Times, dem.

Ex-Governor Joseph E. Brown was, on Tuesday, triumphantly—we believe that is the approved word—elected senator by the Georgia legislature to serve out General Gordon's unexpired term, which will end March 4, 1885. Mr. Brown has already shown rare aptitude in the business of practical legislation, as well as high ability in administrative and judicial lines of thought and labor. And now, with the erratic, brilliant Ben Hill, and the steady, strong, reliable Brown, Georgia's senatorial team will match any other in the chamber.

Rome Courier.

Senator Brown, in his public addresses laid the foundation for the popular belief that many great and good things will accrue to the state from his election to the senate and he need not be surprised to find that if breakers do not cease to make navigation rough around Tybee, if Savannah does not have a thirty foot channel out to the sea, if Atlanta is not connected with the gulf by canal and river, if every darkey is not educated well enough to read, interpret and act Richard III, if every impecunious pocket is not furnished a "silver lining," if the harness is not taken off every bull in the vicinity of Gaddestown and everybody furnished a spanking pair of mules and a patent steel plow—we say to Governor Brown if all these things do not happen that he may be a counted a "failure" by many who now think that "Joe Brown is the greatest man on the continent."

Baltimore Gazette, dem.

In electing Governor Brown to the United States senate the Georgia legislature provides republicans with conclusive proof of the falseness of their assertion that every public man at the south who does not adhere to the extreme "bourbon" doctrine is doomed to proscription and political obscurity. In 1868 Governor Brown supported and voted for General Grant, and a vigorous effort was made by a few irreconcilables to prejudice Georgia democrats against him in the contest for the senatorship just ended on that score. The attempt proved a complete failure, however, for Senator Brown (he is already senator by appointment in place of Senator Gordon, resigned) was elected by a majority greater than the total number of votes cast for his antagonist. Thus, it will be seen, the Georgia legislature is not quite as retrogressive or as bitterly sectional as our stalwart contemporaries doubtless imagined. On the other hand republicans need not lay the flattering unction to their souls that Senator Brown's loyalty to democratic principles is at all doubtful. On all leading questions he will vote with his party, and democrats need have no fear that his personal independence will in any contingency jeopardize the interests of true democracy.

Atlanta special to New York Sun.

The correspondent of the Sun called on Senator Brown a few hours after his election to-day. The senator declined to submit to a regular interview, stating that he was not feeling well. He, however, indicate the course that he intended to pursue in the future. He said, in reply to a question: "I intend to try to secure appropriations for the improvement of our harbors and rivers. In the southern part of the state we have vast timber interests which need only better transportation facilities to bring us millions of dollars. Public education will also be one of my favorite objects. I am for selling the public lands and devoting the proceeds to the education of the masses. The negroes must be educated, and as the general government freed them and clothed them with new responsibilities, the general government ought to bear the burden of their education. The negroes have the right to hold office, and I expect to aid some of them in getting office, in preference to some white men. I believe I have said enough. You know that I was an original secessionist. I have nothing to take back. I accepted the constitutional amendments and reconstruction measures in good faith. I mean to abide by them in good faith. We have a new south. The world moves; I am going to move with it."

Springfield Republican.

The Georgia legislature confirmed United States Senator Joseph E. Brown in his seat yesterday, giving him 146 votes to 64 for General A. R. Lawton, his independent competitor. This is something more than a triumph of the bar'l, although Senator Brown is one of the richest men in the state. It is Georgia's last word in favor of the constitutional amendments, and accepting the issues of reconstruction as settled facts belonging to a by-gone past. A warm contest was made against Brown, because he accepted reconstruction and voted for Grant in 1868, as the best thing the south could do. Bob Toombs also invaded the legislative halls with his sledge-hammer rhetoric, and planted Lawton's candidacy on the national democratic platform of 1868, which declared the constitutional amendments revolutionary, unconstitutional, null and void. Toombs struck the nail on the head, however, in denouncing the appropriations log-rolled through congress, and proudly pointed to his sixteen years' service there without getting a cent for his "deestrict" or being asked to do so. THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION and the great mass of the regular democracy, which supported Governor Colquitt's re-election, not only wanted their share of the public moneys, but also recognized the advance the party has made since 1868, and accepted its conviction that the amendments are as firmly established as the constitution itself. It shows upon what unsubstantial foundations the "solid south" bugbear has lately perched itself, that in this case the regular democracy of the state upheld the constitutional amendments, and accepted reconstruction as settled once, for all, while the party malcontents who opposed Colquitt's re-election, with the general sympathy of the republican press at the north, vainly tried to overthrow both, as far as Georgia was concerned. Lawton and the old-fogy rebel nabobs back of him tumbled into the same ditch, in spite of Bob Toombs's help.

The Tariff Issue in the South.

Savannah News.

It is given out that Hon. B. H. Hill is preparing one of the "greatest efforts of his life" in advocacy of a protective tariff. He will find that the people of the south will not take to that "new departure." Manufactures at the south have sufficient protection in the natural advantages which we possess over the north, whose manufactures, especially of cotton, without protection, would be unable to compete with us.

Rome Courier.

Senator Hill also in an interview with some one declares for a protective tariff, and gives as a reason for it that the south needs such a tariff more than the north. Here we have this non-sectional party man favoring a certain policy because his section needs the exercise of that policy more than another section. But this is not the worst feature of the case for Mr. Hill, for any tariff that would benefit one section would benefit all sections alike, so far as any particular branch of industry is concerned. Then if the south needs more protection than the north, the north would be more benefitted by such a tariff than the south, and as a consequence would increase in wealth more rapidly than the south. Senator Hill has certainly not given the proposition such a careful thought and study as its importance demands, unless, in his present non-sectional mood, he has resolved to give the south away.

Philadelphia Record, ind.

The question of "protection" is coming to the front in several of the southern states, notably in Virginia, Georgia and North Carolina, and it bids fair to produce a general disintegration of the dominant party in that whole region. In the states just named the manufacturing interest is already considerably developed, and there is a growing disposition to engage in that industry. The presence of not a few favorable conditions gives great encouragement to this new spirit of enterprise. Labor is not so abundant there as in the north, but there is a sufficiency of it for such mills and factories as are now in operation, and an increased demand will bring any supply that may be needed from without. Wages are lower because the means of living are obtained more cheaply, so that, while the workingman gets better actual compensation for his labor than is realized at the north, that element in the cost of production is materially diminished. Land costs less, and this gives the southern manufacturer another advantage over his northern competitor. Water power is abundant and more easily obtainable than here. Machinery can be run by steam power at far less expense there than in the north, owing to the superior cheapness of fuel. The immediate vicinity of the cotton fields and other sources of raw material also affords an important advantage to the southern manufacturer.

The People All Right.

Chattanooga Times.

Bob Toombs says "the people" of Georgia are poor and growing poorer. It is a silly croak, and mischievous as it is untrue. Toombs is one of the Bourbons who has learned nothing. He means by "the people" the old slaveholding class, which are not and were not "the people;" not one-twentieth of "the people" ever owned slaves. By the way, Toombs has gotten richer since the war than he was before the war. Are his accumulations related in any way to the poverty of "the people" with whom he affects to sympathize? He never earned his great fortune by the sweat of his brow. Let him look into the effect on "the people" of great accumulations in single hands in the form of non-productive securities, and real estate investments, and see if he discovers one cause for the embarrassments of "the people" nearer home than Washington.

The Card for the South.

Dalton Citizen.

The suggestion that the south have nothing to do with the president-making hereafter, we are glad to see, is meeting with general approval by the newspaper press of the south. This is unquestionably the card for the south to play in future. Let her lend all her efforts to make herself great and powerful in a commercial way—build up all her waste places—erect manufactories—convert her fleecy staple into cotton fabrics of every description—and she will soon be respected and courted by all parties at the north.

Charleston News and Courier.

The national democratic party, in order to succeed in national elections, must hold and advocate other principles than those which relate exclusively to the construction of the constitution. It must have a well-defined policy on the finances, on the tariff and on the civil service. It must plant itself on the present—on the constitution as it is construed by the supreme court of the United States. It must appeal to the material interests as well as the political sympathies of the people. It must look forward, not backward and be in all things liberal and progressive. If it be treason to the democratic party to endeavor to breathe new life into it and make it a party that the generation of citizens who have grown up since the war will be proud to belong to, then are we traitors indeed, and our censors are welcome to make the most of it!

Georgia Will Remain Solid.

Sparta Ishmaelite.

The people of Georgia—the people that sent Mr. Hill to the senate, are not going to forsake the principles that they have cherished for a lifetime simply because those principles are obnoxious to a majority of the people of the north. If Mr. Hill wishes to disband, he has a perfect right to do so. If he wishes to embrace political tenets that the people of the north do not hate, it is his privilege to do so. The democratic party is liberal. It has never opposed the exodus to Kansas, and it will not oppose the exodus of any of its members to Mr. Hill's national utopian brotherhood.

The Policy of the President-Elect.

Interview in the Chicago Times.

I mentioned, in form concise as possible, the prevalent curiosity to know something about his views as to the policy the new administration should follow, and about cabinet probabilities. I flatter myself the nerve required to put this excited his admiration. For he smiled again and blew a gust of smoke high over his head.

"That is something," he said, "we will all know more about three months from now. I have made up my mind to be for three months a first class listener."

Raw Men Not Wanted.

Springfield Republican.

In the next house 202 representatives will be old members, 184 re-elected from the present house, and 18 members from former chambers. This leaves 91 representatives who have never sat in the house at Washington. In 1874, when the democrats gained the house, an unusual number of new members came in. Each election since has been an increasing number of re-elections, and now that the republicans regain the chamber, the proportion of raw men sinks to about its customary fraction.

FOR SALE.

THE COOSA RIVER STEAM SAW MILL, situated on the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad and Yellow Leaf Creek, 150 yards from its confluence with Coosa river. This location is one of the best in the state. Plenty of long leaf yellow pine on both banks of Coosa river. The creek is a splended reservoir for logs. Mill and machinery principally new and just put up. The mill is a Lane & Bodley standard. Average capacity about 15,000 feet per day. My reason for selling is bad health and a mercantile business 40 miles distant, which needs my personal attention.

Terms of sale cash. For particulars address

Lamar, Rankin & Lamar
WHOLESALE AGENTS.

The most Wonderful Lung Remedy of the Age. No Opium, Morphine, Bromide, or any narcotic. It is made from Roots and Herbs of the forests of Georgia, and never fails to benefit the sufferer from the first dose.

HEAR THE WITNESSES.

Messrs Lamar, Rankin & Lamar—Gentlemen: My little girl 8 years old has been for some time troubled with a severe cough, which physicians pronounced Bronchitis. She slept but little, coughing nearly the entire night, and we had to get up very often to help her out, the cough was so severe. At your solicitation I bought a bottle of Brewer's Lung Restorer, and she began to improve at once, and has been sleeping nicely ever since, and I firmly believe she will be permanently cured. I was very much frightened at her condition not long since, but am now rejoicing at her rapid recovery. Yours truly,

GEORGE F. WING.

Messrs. Lamar, Rankin & Lamar, Macon, Ga.—Gentlemen—A member of my family whom I feared had Consumption has been entirely cured by the use of Brewer's Lung Restorer. His condition was very alarming to all of us and we did everything that we could think of to benefit him, without success, until I got him a bottle of your Lung Restorer. He began to improve after the first dose, and before he had taken two bottles was entirely cured, where I feared no cure was possible, and I most cheerfully recommend it to all who have any affection of the Lungs. He was coughing and spitting all the time, so incessantly that it prevented his sleeping at night, and what little sleep he got did not refresh him in the least. Had but little appetite, and since he began the use of Brewer's Lung Restorer has slept well and his appetite is very much better. I have never seen anything act so promptly and effect a cure in so short a time. Wishing you great success and hoping the above may influence many to try Brewer's Lung Restorer where they need a medicine to strengthen and restore the Lungs to a healthy condition, I am very respectfully,

MRS. E. J. WILLIAMS,
72 Washington Avenue, near Wesleyan Female College.

It affords me pleasure to give my approval and certificate in favor of your Lung Restorer, having given it a fair trial in a number of cases where it proved a success in the treatment of Bronchitis and Consumption. Five years ago my wife was far gone in Consumption. She had been confined to her bed the greater part of the time, for six months with hectic Fever every day and I had but little hopes of her recovery, but by perseverance with the blessings of God, her lungs are to-day perfectly sound. I gave her no other Lung Medicine than yours and a cough syrup I make. I have generally given them together as I have strong faith in both. I succeeded in curing a number of hopeless cases and regard Brewer's Lung Restorer as a very valuable preparation.

A. R. NORTON, M. D.,
Corner West Broad and Harris Sts., Savannah, Ga

Walter A. Taylor, of Atlanta, says: I have been pushing the sale of Brewer's Lung Restorer, and selling it at every opportunity, and am satisfied that I will establish a good sale for it. I do not remember of a single instance where I sold one bottle but what the party did not return greatly benefited to get the second bottle. I will expect to sell it rapidly in the fall and winter. Yours truly.

WALTER A. TAYLOR,
Druggist, Atlanta, Ga.

MACON, GA., March 1st, 1880.

Dear Sirs: I had frequent hemorrhage before using your Consumptive Cure, and had been treated by Dr. Crowell Johnson and other skilled physicians without being relieved, and after using three bottles of your medicine the hemorrhage was stopped, and I have never had one since. I am now in better health than ever before, and feel it my duty to state to the public the effects of your wonderful Consumption Cure on me.

Yours truly, MRS. E. G. AVANT.

MACON, GA.

Dear Sirs: I had been troubled for a long time before using your Consumptive preparation, with something like Asthma, and after using only two bottles of your medicine I breathed perfectly free and have felt no symptom of the disease since. I am confident your medicine cured me, and I cheerfully recommend it to all who are suffering with Asthma. Yours truly,

JOHN D. ROSS.

TUTT'S PILLS!

AS AN ANTI-BILIOUS MEDICINE, are incomparable. They stimulate the TORPID LIVER, invigorate the NERVOUS SYSTEM, give tone to the DIGESTIVE ORGANS, create perfect digestion and regular movement of the bowels.

AS AN ANTI-MALARIAL

They have no equal; acting as a preventive and cure for Bilious, Remittent, Intermittent, Typhoid Fevers, and Fever and Ague. Upon the healthy action of the Stomach and Liver depends, almost wholly, the health of the human race.

DYSPEPSIA.

It is for the cure of this disease and its attendants, SICK-HEADACHE, NERVOUSNESS, DESPONDENCY, CONSTIPATION, PILES, &c., that these Pills have gained such a wide reputation. No remedy was ever discovered that acts so speedily and gently on the digestive organs, giving them tone and vigor to assimilate food. This accomplished, the NERVES are BRACED, the BRAIN NOURISHED, and the BODY ROBUST. Try this Remedy fairly and you will gain a Vigorous Body, Pure Blood, Strong Nerves, and a Cheerful mind.

GEORGIA HISTORY.

DISTINGUISHED GEORGIANS' VIEWS

On the Pending Bill to Provide for the Preparation and Publication of a General History of Georgia—They Heartily Approve the Proposed Measure.

SUMMERVILLE, November 4, 1880.—Colonel C. C. Jones, Jr.—My Dear Sir: The perusal of your letter of the 2d instant, and of the enclosed draft of bill proposed to be offered to the present legislature of Georgia, providing for the preparation and publication of a history of Georgia, has given me unalloyed pleasure.

Every sovereign people who can review their past with honest pride owe it to themselves, their ancestors, and their posterity to have made, from time to time, a true and permanent historical record of their political existence.

Most if not all of the original thirteen states of our union, and many of their younger sisters, have recognized the importance of so doing, and have adopted measures to that end. Georgia, one of the original sisterhood, now ranking for enterprise and progress among the foremost, may be said to have no condensed written history. Even the fragmentary efforts in that way are very far from reaching our own times, and, for general edification, are out of print.

It is time, high time, that our beloved state had awakened to this imperative duty. Time, the relentless destroyer of man's works and the records of them, is fast obliterating the materials of which such a work must needs be constructed. It has been too long delayed. Every year's further delay will be a superadded sin against Georgia.

The importance of the work being conceded in a public point of view, it will scarcely be denied that the state should contribute liberally, by legislative appropriation, to its accomplishment. It will be the state's history, for the people of the state, in honor of their ancestors, and to their own edification. It will occupy nearly the whole of the author's time whilst in progress. It will necessitate considerable expenditure, from time to time, while in preparation. Few, very few, Georgians are financially able, unaided, to bear the expense incident to the work. Of these few a very small number, if any, would be found both willing and competent to execute it properly.

I say again, I am rejoiced that the subject is to be brought before the legislature, and, as a Georgian, I am delighted to find your name associated, as it is, with the enterprise.

If it will not shock your modesty, I will add that long acquaintance, present close neighborhood, personal intimacy, and almost daily intercourse for two or three years past, have made me familiar with your high scholarship, your large acquirement of knowledge, your untiring industry, your fondness for historical research, and especially for all that appertains to Georgia. I am, as you know, not given to flattery, or to going out of the way to bestow compliments; but I say, in all sincerity, if the work were ordered, the appropriations made, and the appointment of historian given to me, with the whole state to choose from, I would set you to work to-morrow. I know it would be to you a labor of love—of love to good old Georgia. Very truly, yours, C. J. JENKINS.

ATLANTA, GA., November 11, 1880.—Hon. C. C. Jones, Jr.—My Dear Sir: You may remember that I urged you to write a complete history of Georgia some years ago when you did me the honor to compliment me with a copy of your beautiful sketches of the "Dead Towns" of our beloved state.

I beg to say that I am rejoiced to learn from your letter, as well as from the newspapers, and the bill introduced by Judge Twiggs in the house of representatives, that it is your purpose to devote your time and talents to the enterprise.

In the letter to which I refer you may remember that I said I thought you were the only citizen of Georgia, known to me, whose antiquarian research, close study, accurate information, facile pen, and, above all, love for the work, combine to make a historian fit to rescue the past of Georgia from the death of forgetfulness and oblivion.

I do hope that the general assembly will do something handsome to aid you. I feel that it can do nothing better for the real interests of the state. Love of country is a great stimulus to enterprise. State pride is the corner stone of state prosperity. Pride in the names which Georgia has given to the country at the bar, in medicine, in the senate, in the pulpit, on the farm, in railroad enterprises, and manufacturing efforts—though in its youth among us the last may be—will stimulate effort to excell in these pursuits among the youth of the state. It will attach them to a soil rich in the production of such men in the past, and arrest their search in the west for new homes and fanciful expectations. The new Georgia of to-day should reverence the old Georgia of years gone by. So far from detracting from the vigor of her advancing tread, this knowledge of her good and great of "auld lang syne," love of their memories, and the stimulus of their example, will invigorate to a nobler and grander stride.

The subject is rich in material. That you have gathered gems to crown the diadem of our state which otherwise would have been hid forever, I have no doubt; that you will set them on her brow with simplicity and taste, I feel as well assured; and that the state may reward, and God bless you in the patriotic endeavor, is my humble prayer. Respectfully, your friend,

JAMES JACKSON.

ATLANTA, GA., November 1, 1880.—Colonel C. C. Jones, Jr., Augusta, Ga.—Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your communication informing me of your intention, if suitable encouragement should be offered by the legislature, to prepare a complete history of the state of Georgia. Such a work would be of very great value to the state. It is our misfortune to have no general history of the state. The earlier works of Hewitt and McCall were published a long time ago, and that published by Stevens, at a later period, does not even reach into the present century. Under these circumstances it is certainly very desirable that we should have a comprehensive, carefully prepared, and well written history of the state, coming down to the present time, and I think it is the duty of the general assembly of our state to give suitable encouragement to a person well qualified, who will undertake this great work. I believe the intelligence of the state would generally sustain the action of the general assembly in making liberal provision to secure the preparation and publication of such a work. It should embrace our colonial history and all the chief periods down to the present date.

Now a word in reference to the proper person to prepare it. From my knowledge of the public men and of the literary men of Georgia, I can think of no one better qualified than yourself. And when we take into the count the large collection of material you have on hand for the work, and your peculiar fitness for it, I doubt whether there is another gentleman in the state as well qualified as you are.

I therefore sincerely hope the necessary encouragement may be given and that the work may be undertaken by you and pushed forward to completion as fast as circumstances will permit. Very truly, your friend and obedient servant,

JOSEPH E. BROWN.

GRAND HOTEL, N. Y., November 2, 1880.—My Dear Colonel: The receipt of your favor of the 27th ultimo has been delayed for several days because of the fact that my New York address had been changed some three weeks ago. I chanced to step into Mr. Plant's office yesterday afternoon and found it lying there.

I lose no time in replying, and, assuming that you are correct in attributing force to an expression of opinion from me, will write briefly to enable you to use it at the earliest practicable moment for the patriotic object you have in view.

I have no hesitancy in saying that the history of Georgia, which you contemplate writing, is demanded by many of the highest considerations which can appeal to the enlightened legislator. It is a melancholy fact, to use your own expressive language, that "our greatest" have died and have left "no enduring sign." How significant does this fact become when we remember that, had no historic pen recorded the achievements of Hannibal, Carthage would have been simply a name! Can anyone doubt that the peculiar position now held by Boston in the literary world is to be ascribed not less to those who have recorded in historic form the triumphs of her great intellectual men, than to the original genius which achieved them? If we desire to stimulate our youth of the present and of future generations to honorable emulation with the youth of other states and counties in the fields of intellectual and heroic efforts, we must not fail to indicate a proper appreciation of those who have acted well their parts in the generations that are gone.

This, however, is far from being the only reason which would prompt me to give all possible aid to your laudable undertaking. Nor am I expressing for the first time my conviction, of all living men, you are best fitted for its successful accomplishment. That you bring to it the fruits of twenty years devotion to study, and the collection of the requisite material, is certainly a prime and peculiar qualification; but above all your many qualifications, in my judgment, is the fact that the writing of the history of Georgia will be to you emphatically a labor of love. I am very truly your friend,

HENRY R. JACKSON.

Colonel Charles C. Jones, Jr., Augusta, Ga

PERRY, GA., November 5, 1880.—My Dear Sir: I thank you for yours of the 2d inst. The history of Georgia ought by all means to be written, and written fully and without further delay. It is due to the present and future generations that it should be done—faithfully done, as I am sure it will be if accomplished by you. I am approaching my four score year. I shall be eighty in February next if I live till the 27th of that month, and I want to live to see the history of Georgia written and published. I am sure others now living want it, and those to come after us will need it and ought to have it. I sincerely hope the present legislature will make suitable and ample provision to enable you to perform the work with the least possible delay.

I will write to the senator from this district and to the representative from this county and endeavor to secure to you their aid in your laudable undertaking to write and publish the history of Georgia—my native state. I was born in the county of Burke on the 27th of February, 1801. Yours very truly,

ELI WARREN.

Colonel C. C. Jones, Jr., Augusta, Ga.

ATLANTA, GA., November 5, 1880.—My Dear Colonel: I have just read with very great pleasure the admirable letter of Judge Hook concerning the needed history of Georgia, and your unquestionable fitness to undertake the work. I hope the article will be copied extensively by our papers, and that some immediate practical action may be had on the subject. It expresses the views I have for some time very frequently expressed in private, particularly in regard to an appropriation by the state to meet all expenses, and in regard to yourself as the person most suitable to place at the head of the undertaking. My desire now is that Judge Hook shall lead off in the movement, and that we may have a bill introduced at once. I am fully satisfied that the measure will pass. Yours as ever,

CLEMENT A. EVANS.

NATIONAL HOTEL WASHINGTON, D. C., 16th November, 1880.—Colonel Charles C. Jones, Jr., Augusta, Ga.—My Dear Sir: You must excuse the delay of my reply to your last letter. It was occasioned by a press of business, private as well as public just before leaving home for this city, and a like press of business soon after my arrival here last Saturday.

Be assured I do most heartily approve your proposed history of Georgia. Such a work is exceedingly needed in vindication of the character of our ancestors and for the transmission to posterity of a true record of the virtues and deeds of those patriots and heroes who have made Georgia that noble commonwealth of which her sons and daughters may ever be proud.

I mean no flattery when I say that I know of no one so competent to perform this great work as yourself.

A first, you know, I doubted the power of the legislature, under our new state constitution of 1877, to aid in such an undertaking by appropriation from the public treasury. I am now satisfied that the view taken by me of this subject which gave rise to those doubts, was erroneous. The clauses of the constitution to which I refer, and to which I called your attention in a previous letter, are in article 7, section 1, paragraph 1, and are in these words: "The powers of taxation over the whole state shall be exercised by the general assembly for the following purposes only:

"For the support of the state government and the public institutions.

"For educational purposes, for instructing children in the elementary branches of an English education only.

"To pay the interest on the public debt.

"To suppress insurrection, to repel invasion, and defend the state in time of war.

"To supply the soldiers who lost a limb or limbs in the military service of the confederate states with artificial limbs during life."

With these strict limitations upon the power of taxation, at first I doubted whether the general assembly could use any money in the treasury, raised by taxation, for the purpose named. I never doubted however, that they might appropriate for this object any money in the treasury accruing from any source other than that of taxation, such as receipts from the United States in payment of claims against the federal government. Money so accruing, I thought was now in the treasury and might be wisely so used by the general assembly, and so advise you.

But, upon mature reflection, it is now clear to my mind that the construction at first entertained by me of those clauses of the constitution quoted would be worse than "sticking in the bark."

I funder these clauses the legislature has power, as all admit, to tax and appropriate taxes for the support of our established universities and asylums, as public institutions, how much more clearly have they the power to do the same in behalf of the greatest of all the public institutions in the land, that is the commonwealth itself, and from which all the minor and subordinate ones are but emanations and agencies created by the sovereignty of the state for its own preservation, development and advancement in everything tending to a higher order of civilization in physical, moral, intellectual and political progress.

I do trust, my dear sir, that your proposition will receive favorable consideration and action by the general assembly. Yours truly,

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.

CINCINNATI, November 16, 1880.—Colonel C. C. Jones, Jr., Augusta, Ga.—My Dear Colonel: I am gratified to see that an effort is to be made to induce the Georgia legislature to select you as the proper person to write a full history of our state. I am gratified both at the fact that the effort is to be made now to have a complete history of Georgia written, and that you are to be the writer and compiler of that history. This work has been already too long neglected and I do not believe there is any man living who is better qualified in every respect for this important work than yourself.

I hope the legislature will pass some such bill as the one I see suggested. Yours truly,

J. B. GORDON.

THE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

ATLANTA, November 19.—The senate met at 10 o'clock, and was called to order by the president. Prayer by Chaplain Duncan. The roll was called and the journal was read and approved.

A message was received from the governor to the effect that the Hon. Alexander M. Speer had tendered his resignation as judge of the Flint circuit and that the same had been accepted.

The rules were suspended and Mr. Meldrim offered a joint resolution that the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Judge Speer be filled by the general assembly immediately after the election of the other judges.

Mr. McDaniel moved an amendment inserting Tuesday next at 12 o'clock.

After some discussion, Mr. McDaniel withdrew his amendment and offered another amendment that the election of a judge of the Flint circuit shall take place after the election of solicitors general.

Pending the consideration of this amendment the time arrived for the houses to resume the election of judges, and the senate passed into the house.

The senate returned, and on motion of Mr. Baker took a recess till 3 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The senate met at 2 o'clock, and was called to order by the president.

On motion of Mr. Meldrim, his resolution relating to the judgeship of the Flint circuit was laid on the table.

A message was received from the house that a joint resolution had been adopted by that body, bringing on the election of a judge of the Flint circuit immediately after the election of the other judges.

The senate, upon motion of Mr. Winn, concurred in the resolution, whereupon Mr. McDaniel moved to amend the concurrent resolution by fixing the time for the election of a judge of the Flint circuit at the heel of the election of solicitors general.

Pending Mr. McDaniel's remarks in support of his amendment, the chair announced that the time had come for the general assembly to continue the regular elections in joint session, and the senate repaired to the house.

The senate returned to the senate chamber and adjourned to 10 o'clock to morrow.

The House.

The house met at 10 o'clock, and was called to order by the speaker.

Prayer by the chaplain, Rev Mr. Jones.

The roll was not called. The journal was read and approved.

A resolution offered by Mr. Harrell, of Decatur, looking to an investigation of the wild land frauds was taken up and adopted. It provides that the judiciary committee shall take charge of the matter, and if necessary, to draft a bill for the relief of parties who have been swindled.

Mr. Wright of Floyd, by consent of two-thirds of the house, introduced a bill to establish a system of public schools for Rome. Referred to committee on local and special bills.

Seats on the floor were tendered to several distinguished citizens.

A message from the governor announced that the Hon. Alexander M. Speer had resigned the position of judge of the Flint circuit, and that the position of was vacant.

Mr Miller moved that a judge for the Flint circuit be elected after the other judges are elected.

Mr. Miller then said that the resolution was not necessary as the senate had taken some action in the matter, and it would be best to ascertain officially what that action was.

The senate appeared at the door of the house and was admitted to joint session.

The first business was the second ballot for a judge of the Chattahoochee circuit for the term beginning January 1st, 1880, and running for four years.

The ballot resulted, B. A. Thornton 64, T. J. Willis 73, James Wimberly 74. Changes to Willis began. Mr. Garrard withdrew the name of Colonel Thornton. Changes to Willis and Wimberly and it was doubtful who would be elected. Willis finally swept to the point of safety and was elected, receiving 116 votes, Wimberly 84, while 11 votes remained for Thornton in spite of his withdrawal.

The Cherokee circuit was next in order.

For judge of this circuit Mr. Rankin, of the house, nominated Hon. J. C. Fain, of Gordon.

Mr. Estes, of the house, seconded the nomination of Mr Fain.

Mr. Broyles, of Whitfield, nominated Hon. R. J. McCamy, of Whitfield.

Seconded by Mr. Fouche, of the senate.

Mr Hackett, of the senate, nominated Hon. I. E Shumate, of Whitfield.

Seconded by Mr. Wilkinson, of the house.

The ballot resulted: J. C. Fain 121, R. J. McCamy 48, I. E. Shumate 41.

Judge Fain was declared elected judge of the Cherokee circuit for four years from the first of January next.

The Coweta circuit was then taken up—for the unexpired term of Judge Hugh Buchanan.

Mr. Bull, of the house nominated Hon. F. M. Longley, of Troup.

Seconded by Mr. Daniel, of the senate.

Judge Longley was unanimously elected, receiving 189 votes.

Mr. Post, of the house, stated before the ballot that Judge Featherstone, of Coweta, would not be a candidate owing to failing health.

The full term for the Coweta circuit was next filled.

Mr. Butt, of the senate, nominated Hon. S. W. Harris, of Carroll.

Mr. Stanford, of Harris, seconded the nomination.

The ballot resulted in the unanimous election of Judge Harris, he having received 200 votes.

The next election was for the unexpired term of Judge Martin J. Crawford, of the Chattahoochee circuit.

Mr. Butt, of the senate, nominated Hon. James Wimberly, of Stewart.

Judge Wimberly was unanimously elected, receiving 195 votes.

The next election was for a judge of the Eastern circuit.

Mr. Bassinger, of the house, nominated Hon. W. B. Fleming, of Liberty.

Mr. Twiggs, of the house, seconded the nomination.

The election of Judge Fleming was unanimous. He received 188 votes.

On motion of Mr. McWhorter, of the senate, the general assembly was then dissolved to meet at 3:15 p m.

On motion of Mr. Hunt, of Spalding, the house took up the resolution of Mr. Miller to elect a judge to fill the unexpired term of Judge Speer of the Flint circuit. The resolution was adopted and ordered transmitted to the senate.

The house then adjourned to 3:15 o'clock.

The house met at 3:15 p.m., the speaker in the chair.

Mr. Jones, of Baker, introduced a resolution that Governor Colquitt furnish an itemized account of all taxes obtained from the railroads of this state, the amounts thereof, and from what roads; also an itemized account of all fees paid to or returned by the attorney general and associate counsel. Laid over under the rules.

Mr DuBignon asked permission to introduce by consent a local bill which reached him too late to be introduced under the rule which requires all local bills to be presented to the house within fifteen days after the beginning of the session except by a two-thirds consent of the whole house. The permission was granted and Mr DuBignon introduced his bill which was to incorporate the Baldwin county manufacturing company. Referred to the committee on local and special bills.

The judiciary committee made a report.

THE JOINT SESSION.

At 3:30 the senate entered the hall of representatives and the assembly continued the business of electing judicial officers.

The Middle circuit was taken up in order to elect a judge of this circuit.

Mr. Pottell, of Jefferson, put the name of Hon. R. W. Carswell, of Jefferson county, in nomination.

Seconded by Senator Jourdan, of the 20th district.

Senator Brown, of the seventeenth district, nominated Hon. John C. Dell, of Screven.

Seconded by Mr. Singleton, of Screven.

Mr. Berrien, of Emanuel, nominated Hon. Josephus Camp, of Emanuel.

Seconded by Senator Hicks, of the sixteenth district.

The result of the ballot showed Carswell the winning man by several lengths, receiving 117 votes, Camp 15, and Dell 75.

Hon R. W. Carswell was then declared elected judge of the Middle circuit to fill the vacancy in said circuit, occasioned by the death of Hon. H V Johnson.

The Northern circuit was taken up.

Senator Mattox, of the thirtieth district, nominated Hon. E H. Pottle, the present incumbent, for judge of this circuit.

Seconded by Senator Mosely, of the thirty first district.

Hon. E. H. Pottle was re-elected by a vote of 205, as there was no other candidate.

The Oconee circuit was next taken up.

Mr Lamar, of Pulaski, nominated Hon. A. C Pate, of Pulaski, to be his own successor in the Oconee circuit.

Seconded by Senator Hicks, of the sixteenth district.

No other nomination.

Hon. A C. Pate was re-elected by a vote of 192 to fill the post of judge of the Oconee circuit.

The Southwestern circuit was now taken up.

Hon. C. A. Crisp, of Sumter, was nominated by Senator Guerry, of the thirteenth district.

Seconded by Mr. Dupree, of Macon.

There being no other candidates Hon. C. A. Crisp received 201 votes and was declared to be duly elected to the office of judge of the Southwestern circuit.

The joint session then dissolved until 10:30 a. m. to morrow.

DR. CASE'S REMEDIES.

Office of Dr. M. W. CASE, 933 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

CATARRH Is a Terrible Disease. Its fearful effects—corruption running down the throat, weak eyes, deafness, loss of voice, loss of smell, disgusting odors, nasal deformities, and finally consumption. From first to last it is ever aggressive. Ordinary treatments are worse than useless. If neglected while a cure is possible, it may rapidly develop into quick consumption. The most thorough, successful and pleasant treatment is

Dr. M. W. CASE'S CARBOLATE of TAR INHALANT

FOR CATARRH, ASTHMA, CONSUMPTION, Bronchitis & Deafness.

It does not require ten minutes to demonstrate the value of Carbolate of Tar, the most healing remedial agent known to science. Balsams and Cordials of the most healing and soothing properties are so combined with Pine Tree Tar, that the mere breathing converts them into a dense smoke or vapor. This is inhaled—taken right to the diseased parts. No heat, no hot water, simply inhaling or breathing it, and you feel its healing power at once. This treatment is endorsed by physicians everywhere, and highly commended by thousands, who have used it with perfect satisfaction. FULL TREATMENT—Circulars, etc., Sent Free—sent. Satisfaction Always Guaranteed. Address, DR. M. W. CASE, 933 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, WASHINGTON, D. C., January 26th, 1880.

Messrs. LAWRENCE & MARTIN, 111 Madison Street Chicago, Ill.:

GENTLEMEN: This compound, in the opinion of this office, would have a sufficient quantity of the BALSAM OF TOLU to give it all the advantages ascribed in this article in pectoral complaints, while the whisky and syrup constitute an emulsion rendering it an agreeable remedy to the patient. Compounded according to the formula, it may properly be classed as a medicinal preparation under the provisions of U. S. Revised Statutes, and when so stamped, may be sold by Druggists, Apothecaries and Other Persons without rendering them liable to pay special tax as liquor dealers.

BEWARE!

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO BULLDOZE.

We Caution all Parties interested in the sale of Stewart Sewing Machines to

DISREGARD

The constructive threats of the Singer Manufacturing Co., who are sending out copies of injunctions prohibiting the use of "Trade Mark" stands on the Stewart Machine, hoping, doubtless, to prevent the sale of the genuine Stewart Sewing Machine, a competition they are unable to cope with.

The Singer KNOW that no Stewart Machine was ever sold in the States of Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina, Florida or East Tennessee that in any way conflicted with any patent they ever owned.

We will protect and defend any dealer in the Stewart against the Singer and all others claiming any infringement of their patent rights by the Stewart Sewing Machine sold by us; and further do hereby unqualifiedly pronounce said circulation of said injunction to be in our belief a miserable trick, intended to damage us, and totally unnecessary for the protection of the Singer Company's rights, which we have never invaded in a single instance.

NOTICE.—The Singer Company KNOW that every Stewart Machine in the above mentioned States passes through our hands, and we have for years challenged them to meet us in law or equity, and yet they do not attempt it.

THEY DARE NOT.

Hence their misleading circulars, which are intended only to damage us. We shall prosecute all parties who wilfully misrepresent us hereafter. FRED BELL & CO.

The Naiad Queen.

The spectacular drama of the Naiad Queen as presented by Mr. John T. Ford's company at DeGive's last night, was a pleasing performance, full to the brim of spicy and attractive features. The entire cast entered into the spirit of the piece, affording the large audience two hours and a half of genuine entertainment. There was something to capture all tastes. The scenery was quite dazzling at times and the dialogue was of that light and volatile character which never grew monotonous. Miss Blanche Thompson as the Naiad Queen, and Miss Mary Bockel as Idex—both favorites in Atlanta—received a a cordial welcome and it was difficult to decide which pleased the audience most, the graceful impersonation of the former, or the splendid singing of the latter. Miss Leo Coler—quite a young girl, did some excellent dancing, and the violion solos of Master Kayton, showed him the best violinist of his age who has ever appeared here. The fencing scene very creditable. The Amazon march was pretty, and the local hits were decidedly personal and higly effective. It is a play of tights and lights, mirth and music, fun and frolic, spangles and spectacles, and barring one or two glaringly broad allusions by Schnapps, and one scene too gauzily clad, there is nothing in it which should startle a preacher or a prude.

The Naiad Queen will be repeated at the matinee to day, and to-night a new arrangement of the musical comedy, Fun on the Pacific, will be presented.

The Gate City Guard Fair.

We give below a list of numbers that drew prizes at the late fair, which have not been called for. All the unfinished raffles were closed and the articles drawn on Wednesday evening. A Good Bill.

A bill, introduced by Seab Wright, to prohibit the granting by the courts of this state of more than two new trials to the same party in any civil cause tried in any of the courts of this state has elicited considerable discussion.

Several of the most distinguished jurists in the state have expressed their approbation of the bill, and openly advocate its passage. Among the number are Senator Hill and General Toombs.

A CONSTITUTION reporter, meeting Senator Hill yesterday, asked his opinion of the bill. He replied, "I am in favor of it. It is the law to-day in several states of the union and should be the law of Georgia."

The bill is now in the hands of the judiciary committee and will not be before the house for several days.

An English Meeting.

A number of the citizens of the first ward met at the hall of No. 4 engine house last night to listen to an address by Captain J. W. English, candidate for mayor. Mr. J. A. Anderson presided, and Joseph H. Smith acted as secretary. Captain English made a brief but exceedingly sensible speech. He does not favor an increase of taxation or of the debt of the city, but thinks it best to procure money for improvement of the streets by reducing the rate of interest on the city's present debt. Addresses were also made by Judge Wright, S D Haslett, P. J. Knox, M E. Maher and E. M. Grearson. Resolutions indorsing Captain English were passed.

He Has Gone.

Boniel's case was yesterday settled by the defendant agreeing to surrender to the complainant the goods which he purchased from them. The bill of lading, the presentation of which at the depot in Mobile would have possessed him of the goods, was assigned to Mr. Howard Williams, and Boniel, the Turk, shook the dust of Atlanta off his feet and skipped out for pastures green.

An Interesting Lecture.

Owing to the necessary repairs occasioned by the late fire the Marietta street Methodist church will be closed during the next two weeks.

It is suggested that during this interval the eloquent pastor, Rev. Mr. Cooke, be solicited to repeat on some Sabbath evening at one of the neighboring churches, his lecture entitled "Great Men; or the Force of an Idea.

Mr. Price, of Oconee.

Mr. Price, of Oconee county, is one of the most diligent and attentive members in the house. He is always at his seat, and has introduced several bills which show that he understands the wants of the people. It is an excellent custom to send vigorous young men to the legislature—men who have a future and who will work it out.

A New Citizen.

Dr. G. W. Harris, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has settled in our city for the purpose of practicing his profession—destistry. He is a courteous, genial gentleman, and his familiarity with all the details of his profession will doubtless secure him a liberal share of patronage.

Issuing Commissions.

Colonel Warren, at the executive office was busy yesterday issuing commissions to the newly-elected congressmen. Hon. Nat Hammond, of this district, and Hon. George Black, of the first, were supplied with them yesterday evening.

Mr. Martin, of Talbot.

Mr. Martin, of Talbot, has been published as voting for Hon. Joseph E. Brown for the senate. Mr. Martin voted for General Lawton.

New Church at West End.

The opening services of the new church at West End will be held at 2:30 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. The public are invited to attend.

F B. DAVIES, Pastor.

—Northern people, musically inclined, spending the winter in the South in search of health, will find the Southern Conservatory of Music, in Atlanta, Ga., an excellent institution for the pursuit of their studies. The third soiree of the season was given on November 3.—American Art Journal.

AUGUSTA CIRCUIT.

No. 10. Argument concluded.
No. 11. Shields vs. Lamkin et al. Dismissed.
No. 13. Rivers vs. City Council of Augusta. Case, from Richmond. Argued. D F. Myers; W. K. Miller; Frank H Miller, for plaintiff in error. W. & T. H. Gibson, for defendant.
No. 15. Green & Co. vs. Jackson & Co. Assumpsit, from Richmond. Jno. T. Shumake, for plaintiffs in error. Frank H. Miler, for defendants.

Pending the argument of Mr. Shumake, court adjourned until 9 a. m. to morrow.

Fulton Superior Court.

JUDGE GEORGE HILLYER, PRESIDING.

The day was occupied in hearing the case of the Manhattan fire insurance company vs. The Petersburg savings and insurance company.

Commissioner's Court.

JUDGE W. B SMITH, U S. COMMISSIONER.

Griffin Wilson, of Heard county, gave bond to answer the charge of illicit distilling.

James Silck and Manning Yates, of the same county, were charged with a like offense, but the evidence not being sufficient to sustain the charge, they were discharged.

A New Book.

"My Wayward Partner; or, My Trials with Josiah Allen, America, the Widow Burnt, etc.," by Josiah Allen's wife, has just been issued from the press of the American Publishing Company, Hartford, Conn. The author is well known in literary circles, and this new work will be hailed with delight by her numerous admirers.

It is pronounced by many as superior to anything she has yet written, and sparkles with humor and good sense. Mrs. M E. Fuller, of New York, is now in Atlanta, and will call on our citizens and solicit subscriptions—the only way in which the book can be procured. If any one wants the book please call at the Kimball house.

The Third Ward.

Things in the third ward are getting mixed. In that ward there are several candidates for council, among them a colored brother, with the chances in his favor if all the white men continue in the field. A meeting will be held at the city hall some time next week, probably Tuesday night, to take the matter in hand and urge the withdrawal of some of the candidates.

A Captured Darkey.

Yesterday Sheriff Hughes, of Carroll county, aided by the marshal of Carrollton and Officer Love Barnes of the police force, went out to the residence of Mr. John Smith, about three miles from the city, and arrested Dick Taylor, colored, who is wanted in Carroll county for carrying concealed weapons. The negro was brought to the city and lodged in the station house.

A Broken Leg.

Last night a horse hitched to a carriage took fright in front of the opera house and dashed off down Marietta street. From Marietta he ran into Line, and thence to Pryor street, and when just in the rear of Hunt, Rankin & Lamar's drug store fell, breaking his left fore leg below the knee. The carriage was materially damaged. It was the property of Mr Jeff Robinson.

A Dead Baby.

The baby which was smuggled into existence on Marietta street a few days ago, and whose unnatural mother placed it in a box and covered it with clothing with a view to hiding her shame, is dead and was buried yesterday. As soon as the mother is able to travel she will go to her relatives in one of the counties near Atlanta.

A Child Found Dead in Bed.

Yesterday morning at six o'clock Jones Freeman, colored, who resides on Fort street, discovered that his five months' old baby, which had been sleeping with himself and wife, had died during the night. The child is supposed to have died of asphyxia, as there were no marks upon its body to point to any other cause for its death. Later in the day an investigation by the coroner was deemed necessary, and accordingly an inquest was held, but no further facts were developed.

THE COTTON MARKET.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE,
Atlanta, November 19, 1880.

New York—The general cotton market has ruled decidedly active this week, and the advance which has taken place sets the market considerably above the quotations of a week ago. During the early part of the week nothing of unusual interest occurred, but later on and up to the close to-day the market has exhibited a sharp degree of animation, and prices have been reaching to higher figures. The advancing tendency of the market has stimulated buyers all over the country, and created an active demand for all classe of spot cotton. Speculators have been busily engaged, and sales have expanded to enormous figures. The long-continued dullness has at length died away, and the monotonous inanimation of the months past has given place to prospects of a more stimulated and active market for the future. To-day futures opened strong at yesterday's closing figures, and proceeded to advance until about noon, when it seems that the highest quotations were reached. Subsequently a moderate decline took place, though the tone of the market was pretty well sustained until about the close when a weakening disposition was manifested, and the months closed barely steady. The range of prices to-day are about ¼c above the quotations of a week ago, but the indications at the close were to lower prices. Spots, while firm, have been subject to very little change. Middling rules at 11c, which is only 1-16c over the quotations of a week ago. Net receipts for the week ending to day amount to 255,379 bales, against 215,619 bales last week and against 219,966 bales for the corresponding week last year exports for the week 113,531 bales; stock 861,237 bales.

Below we give the opening and closing quotations of cotton futures in New York to-day:

Closed barely steady; sales 171,000 bales.

Liverpool—Futures closed barely steady. Spots—Uplands 6 7-16d; Orleans 6 11-16d; sales to-day 12,000 bales, of which 9,950 bales were American. receipts 15,000; all America

The local cotton market has been very active this week, and a considerable amount of business has been done. Spots, owing to the advance in the New York market, have been marked considerably higher, but all offerings have been readily disposed of at our quotations. To-day the demand was very active and all classes of cotton were eagerly sought for, which enabled some of our merchants to clear off their boards entirely. At the close the feeling swayed a little and shows some symptoms of relaxing, and it may be that lower prices will prevail to-morrow. The local futures market has been quite active and transactions have been liberal at the exchange. Our receipts to-day amount to 990 bales, of which 23 bales were received from wagons. The following prices are still quotable: Good middling 10⅝c; middling 10¼c; low middling 9⅞c; good ordinary 9¼c; storm and stains 8½@9½c.

The following is our statement of receipts and shipments for to-day:

PROVISIONS, GRAIN, ETC.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE,
Atlanta, November 19, 1880.

The following are the opening and closing quotations of wheat, corn, clear rib sides, mess pork and lard in Chicago to-day: Wheat—November opened and closed —; December opened 108⅛, closed 107⅞. January opened 109¼, closed 109. Clear Rib Sides—November opened and closed 6 95; December opened and closed 7.00 Mess Pork—November opened and closed $12.40; January opened and closed $13.85.

Flour, Grain and Meal.

ATLANTA, November 19—Flour—The market firm and of decidedly upward tendency. The general supply of flour in the hands of merchants is heavy, and it seems that they in anticipation of higher prices, had laid in large stocks, and it is probably owing to this cause that the mills find much difficulty in advancing prices in due proportion to the advance in wheat. The condition of affairs is such that some of the mills speak of shutting off until the market shall become more settled and prices more satisfactory; we quote fancy $6.50@$6 75; extra family 6 25@$6.50; family $6.00@$6 25. Wheat—Chicago—The market continues firm and looks as if it might go higher. The current prices to-day are considerably above the quotations a week ago, and the course of the market strongly indicates a "corner." The local spot market is still unsettled and buyers are slow to yield to the advanced prices. However, as soon as their present stocks are exhausted the mills will be compelled to yield to sellers' demands; we quote: No. 2 $1.28@$1 30; No. 3 1.24@1.25. Corn — New 68@69c; in fair demand; old 70c; yellow 68. Oats—50c. Meal—68c, steady. Grits—$4.25.

NEW YORK, November 19—Flour, southern a shade stronger; common to fair extra $5.25@5 70, good to choice extra $5 75@$7.00. Wheat 1@1½c better and light export demand business chiefly on speculative account; ungraded red $1 18@ 1.23½ Corn market ⅛@ ¾c better and fairly active; ungraded 57@60. Oats ½@1½c better; No. 3 42½. Hops quiet and firm,

CHICAGO, November 19 Flour in good demand at full prices. Wheat active, firm, and higher. No. 2 Chicago spring $1.07@$1.07⅛ cash: $1.07⅛ $1.08 December. Corn active, firm and higher; 42⅜@4 ⅞ cash and December; 43⅛ January. Oats active, firm and higher; 32½@32¼ cash; 32⅝ January.

ST. LOUIS, November 19—Flour higher on high grades; family $4 85@$5.00; choice $5.05@$5.25; fancy $5.40@5 65. Wheat higher: closed weak: No. 2 red fall $1.05⅜@1 06⅞ cash; $1.09¼@$1 09⅞ January; $1 1 ⅞@$1.12⅛ February. Corn higher; 45 cash and November; 4 ⅛@4 ⅝ January. Oats higher; 32@32½ cash: 33½ December.

CINCINNATI, November 19—Flour strong; family $5 05@$5.30. Wheat strong and higher; No. 2 amber $1.08 Corn scarce and firm at 53. Oats strong and higher at 34@35.

LOUISVILLE, November 19—Flour steady; extra family $2.25@$3.50 Wheat steady and in fair demand at 98@$1.00. Corn firm at 46. Oats steady and firm at 36.

LIVERPOOL, November 19—1:30 p. m.—Breadstuffs firmer; corn 5s 10dd; red winter wheat 9s 8d@10s; cal fornia wheat, average white. 9s 8s 4d; red western spring 8s 9d@9s 8d; California 9s 10@10s 6d.

Provisions.

NEW YORK, November 19—Pork steady and moderate export inquiry at $14.50@$14.75. Middles quiet and about steady: long clear 7¾. Lard opened 2½c better and closed weak with the advance lost at 8 75@8.80.

ESTABLISHED 1812.

CLARK'S TRADE O.N.T. MARK SPOOL COTTON.

(WOUND ON WHITE SPOOLS.)

THIS SPOOL COTTON IS NOW UNIVERSALly admitted to be the Standard Sewing Thread of the World. It is the Strongest and Smoothest Thread made and contains an Elasticity which is invaluable to Machine Operators. It is finished perfectly soft and contains no artificial polish to injure the Thread. The Black and Colors are the most brilliant ever produced in Spool Cotton. It has taken the highest awards at all the Great World's Fairs since the first held in London in 1851, down to that held in Paris in 1878, where O. N. T. was awarded the GOLD MEDAL for Great Strength and General Excellence.

It has taken the Premium at every State Fair where it has been exhibited.

It has just been awarded the Medal of Progress over all competitors, at the Great Fair just closed in San Francisco, California. It has also just been awarded the SILVER MEDAL (being the highest and only premium given for Spool Cotton) at the ATLANTA FAIR, ending October 22d, 1880.

A full assortment of this Celebrated Thread can now be had at Wholesale and Retail at

JOHN KEELY'S,

And at Wholesale at
MOORE, MARSH & CO.,
M. C. & J. F. KISER & CO.,
